JURY DECLARES 4 GUNMEN GUILTY

First Degree Verdict is Returned in Brief Deliberation.

THEY FOLLOW BECKER

New York, Nov. 19.—"Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Whitey" Lewis and "Dago Frank" Ciferoci, the men charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were all found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the supreme court this afternoon. The jury deliberated an hour and ten minutes.

The quick verdict came as a surprise to everybody. The jury in the case of Charles Becker deliberated for nearly seven hours before reaching a verdict. He is now in Sing Sing, sentenced to be electrocuted for having instigated the murder. The result of the trial today means that the four gunmen will follow him to await death in the electric chair.

For more than three hours today Supreme Court Justice Goff charged the jury in the case of the four gun men charged with murdering Herman Rosenthal. He concluded his charge at 1:35, and the jury retired.

If the state's informers committed the crime as the defense contends, he asked, was it reasonable to assume that the informers would invite the gun men as witnesses? If Jack Rose had lied, he said, in swearing that the gun men did the shooting, why then did he not go further and swear that he had actually

HOLD SCHRANK TO BE INSANE

He Cannot Be Tried for Attempt on Life of Col. Roosevelt.

FIVE ALIENISTS UNIT IN VERDICT

Crank May Spend Remainder of His Life in Oshkosh Asylum.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—A commission of five alienists today reported to Judge Backus finding John Schrank, who shot Col. Roosevelt, insane.

The decision of the doctors was unanimous and means that Schrank cannot be tried for the attempted murder of Col. Roosevelt but will be committed to the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Oshkosh.

Schrank may remain in the Oshkosh asylum for the rest of his life as he cannot be released unless it is shown that he is completely cured and will not be subject again to an attack like the one that caused him to attempt the life of Col. Roosevelt on the night of Oct. 14.

The commission of alienists finished its work yesterday. Its report, which will be made to the court some time this week, is being dictated today by Dr. Richard Dewey, chairman, assisted by the other four doctors on the commission.

Has Not Finished Work.

Later Judge Backus denied that the commission of alienists had finished its work, adding:

"The commission at 11 a. m. is continuing the examination of Schrank in my chambers. If any member of the commission has given out advance information that Schrank has been held to be insane I shall adjudge him to be in contempt of court."

It was learned from other sources that the information that Col. Roosevelt's assailant had been found insane, came from the district attorney's office.

THREE DEAD; TWO OTHERS MAY DIE

Bloody Sequel to Raid on Rooms of Alleged Diamond Thief.

ONE VICTIM WOMAN

New York, Nov. 19.—The body of Henry Vogel, described by the police as an international crook, and beside it the body of his girl, "Lottie," lay in the morgue today and John Allen, a city detective, was dead, while in uptown hospitals four men, two of them detectives, were hovering between life and death, unable to give a connected account of how they were shot last night in a raid on Vogel's rooms, where he was sought as a diamond thief.

In the fusillade which followed the entrance of the detectives, Vogel and the woman were killed instantly. Accounts vary as to whether he shot his companion and committed suicide or whether they fell before the fire from the officers.

Of the wounded hope was expressed today for the recovery of two—Luigi Gerardia, a private detective, and Wm. Butler, a waiter. For the other two, both shot in the abdomen, there was little hope. They are Martin S. Fay, a city detective, and Louis Mondscheim, proprietor of the hotel where the battle occurred.

BOOST O'ROURKE FOR STATE PLACE

Fort Wayne Attorney After Rail Commission Appointment.

PETITION IS SIGNED

Friends of Attorney William S. O'Rourke are exerting their influence in securing for him the appointment as a member of the Indiana railway commission. Mr. O'Rourke has declared himself willing to accept the appointment if it is tendered to him.

Urging that Hon. Samuel M. Ralston, governor-elect, give the proposition due consideration, a petition was started this morning asking for Mr. O'Rourke's appointment as a member of the commission. The document is being largely signed by his friends.

Mr. O'Rourke has practiced law in Allen county for many years. He is widely known throughout the state and is familiar with affairs of the railroads. He served years ago as deputy prosecutor in Allen county and has been quite active in democratic party affairs. Mr. O'Rourke is a son of the late Hon. P. S. O'Rourke, for many years superintendent of the southern division of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad.

The fire started on the second floor, and drawn up through the elevator shaft it spread so rapidly that those on the fifth and sixth floors who did not receive the warning in time were compelled to jump from the windows. The known dead are:

A dozen others were slightly injured.

Mrs. Harrington, member of a company playing at a local theater lost her life by jumping from the fifth floor. She first tossed her 18 months old baby into the net held by the firemen and then jumped but missed the net and sustained injuries which caused her death a short time later.

Mrs. Ella Moran jumped from a sixth story window and was crushed to death on the sidewalk.

The fire did small damage to the hotel except to the two upper floors.

TWO MASKED MEN HOLD UP TRAIN

SUSPECTS ARE TAKEN

Ottumwa, Ia., Nov. 19.—Two masked men held up passenger train No. 12 of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul last night near Ottumwa and obtained loot amounting to about $350.

The bandits robbed two passengers and two employes of the company. T. A. Young, a passenger from the west to Chicago, gave up $80 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $150. J. G. Zook, his companion, was robbed of $72.35.

The robbers boarded the train just as it was leaving the station at Mystic, thirty miles south of Ottumwa. As the porter, J. Robinson, was closing the vestibule doors of the observation car, a revolver was pointed at his head and he was robbed of $5.30. The porter was then compelled to lead the way through the car. The first passengers met were Young and Zook. Leaving the observation car the robbers proceeded to the sleeper, where Pullman Conductor Davis at the point of the revolver gave up $2.90 and a diamond stud. Brakeman Wells was also searched, but his money was overlooked.

The remaining twenty-five miles into Ottumwa found the robbers riding the platforms of the observation and sleeping car holding off the passengers in each car and making their escape when the train reduced speed at the Market street crossing in this city.

The police department and the sheriff's office with bloodhounds are searching for the robbers. Four suspects have been arrested.

Raymond Sweet, a mail clerk on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul southwest limited, which was held up early today, said no one in his car knew of the robbery until they arrived at Ottumwa. Then passengers in the observation car told them that two men had entered the car at Mystic and after robbing them, escaped at Ottumwa. Conductor Wm. Kelley, in charge of the train, said he knew nothing of the robbery.

VEIL LIFTED; 4 TRAGEDIES

GREWSOME FIND ALWAYS RESULTS

Police Get Evidence of Undiscovered Crime as Canal is Drained.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—Slowly receding after the intake was closed at Broad Ripple yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the waters of the canal, the "crime sewer" of Indianapolis, today rolled back the curtain from four tragedies, disclosed by four bodies in various stages of decomposition. The evidence lies at the city mogue.

Identification of the bodies is not complete. The list compiled by the police stands:

Unidentified white man, body found at Platt street.

Unidentified body of baby; strangled to death and sunk with brick tied to throat by piece of braided quilt.

Periodically the water company low- always attend the operation a series alway s attend the operation a series of discoveries. The oldest policeman cannot remember when some grewsome find did not result. The finding of the body of Blanche Kimball, the colored girl, reveals a probable assault and murder. The girl lived with Emma Haley, an aunt. She left home Saturday evening after being chided by her aunt. The woman says she was "pouting" and was going to see Mrs. Bessie Parr, a friend, almost a block from the canal. That was just after dusk in the evening. She never got to the Parr home.

BOILER LETS GO AS TRAIN SPEEDS

Two Hurt in Explosion of a Locomotive Near Pendleton.

CAUSE IS A MYSTERY

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 19.—The locomotive of a Big Four freight train, westbound, exploded today near Pendleton while the train was running at full speed.

J. R. Reninger, engineer, of Indianapolis, escaped with bruises on the chin and on one leg. Joseph Griswold, fireman of Bellefontaine, O., was badly scalded about the head and chest. Both men were brought to a hospital in this city, but Engineer Reninger remained only long enough for examination of his injuries. Griswold is in a serious condition.

The engineer was unable to explain the explosion. He said the engine seemed to be working well. The men on the engine was thrown one to each side of the double track. The boiler rolled over on one side of the grade and the tender was hurled crosswise on one of the tracks.

Three freight cars immediately behind the tender piled up and in the debris was a car load of cattle, of which five or six were killed outright. Several cars were derailed and the wreck blocked the Indianapolis division of the Big Four for several hours.

ALLIES HEED TURK APPEAL

Victors Will Treat for Peace at Request of Vanquished.

BALKAN NATIONS NOTIFY POWERS

Stubborn Battle at Gates of Capital Had Bearing on Decision.

London, Nov. 19.—The nations of the Balkan confederacy, satiated with victory, today signified their willingness to treat for terms of peace at the request of the vanquished Turkish empire.

The luster of their success has been only slightly dimmed by their temporary failure to overcome the rallied Turkish army at the gates of Constantinople and enter the Ottoman capital.

The stubborn defense encountered by the Bulgarians at the line of fortifications at Tchatalja and the realization that enormous slaughter would be necessary to pierce them at the point of the bayonet with every prospect that their ranks would be decimated by cholera before they had attained success, doubtless proved deciding factors in inducing the conquerors to listen to the urging of the great powers and refrain from pressing home their victory to the Turkish capital until they had presented terms of surrender to the vanquished and had met with a refusal of their acceptance.

Grand Scribe Leedy reported that there are now 288 encampments in Indiana with a net increase in membership during the year of 242. The balance in the treasury of the grand encampment Oct. 3, 1912, was $2,546.

MY WORD! WHAT A BALLY STIR OUR ELECTION MADE IN LONDON!

London got quite fussed over the American elections. These photographs show newsboys on the day after election with the placards which every London newsboy carries. London newsboys never yell.

One of the most remarkable placards was the sheet issued by the staid old Pall Mall Gazette on which appeared in great letters the words, "Poor Old Taft." The evening News showed how up-to-date it was by issuing the placard, "Taft Beaten to a Frazzle."

Many Americans in Fleet street and the Strand bought the "Poor Old Taft" placards and sent them home to friends.

A Local Branch of the Club

IT MIGHT be well, before reading this little story, to take a careful look at the picture and read the clipping which Mr. Charles W. Orr holds in his hands. This is an extract from The Sentinel of last Friday evening.

Some unknown friend of Mr. Orr mailed him the clipping and enclosed a note in which he called attention to the fact that a Mr. Orr, of Pittsfield, Mass., is the temporary president of the club referred to in the press telegram. The writer also made bold to inquire whether or not all of the Orrs, wherever found, are eligible to membership in the club. It was while Mr. Orr was thoughtfully perusing the clipping and the note that a couple of newspaper men came up and helped him to think about it.

"Do you think," asked one of the pencil-pushers, (that's the stereotyped name for a newspaper writer, but any man who doesn't dish up his "copy" on a typewriter in these days can't hold his job more than half a day)—"Do you think that you will join the club if a branch is organized in Fort Wayne?"

"Yessiree," responded Mr. Orr enthusiastically. "I will gladly become a charter member of a local chapter, but I would like very much to be joined by such other shining lights as E. H. Merritt, Theodore Wentz, Ed Lennon, A. D. Cressler, Pat McDonald, Charley Bash, Frank Randall, Will Beck, Al Hazzard, Will Shambaugh, Dr. Stults,

The clipping.

Will Breen, Judge Hench and others—it would make an interesting collection, don't you think?"

"But how about the toupee-wearers?"

"Well, you see, we could let them in as associate members, but I certainly think they ought not to be allowed to vote or hold office, do you?"

TO RETIRE FROM JEWELRY TRADE

Mr. Green to Engage in the Manufacture of Optical Goods.

TO AUCTION STOCK

After twenty years of success in the retail jewelry business in Fort Wayne, Dallas Green is preparing to retire, to engage in the manufacture of optical goods. The entire stock in his store will be sold at auction, beginning next Saturday.

Announcement of Mr. Green's retirement from the retail field in the city comes as a great surprise to his business friends and associates. Mr. Green opened his store in Fort Wayne twenty years ago and for more than seventeen years was located in the Arcade, on West Berry street. When the Shoaff building was completed he moved his stock into the present handsome quarters. The store is today one of the largest in Indiana and is the largest owned by one individual.

The sale of the stock wil begin Saturday afternoon and will continue until sold out. Mr. Green has not selected quarters for his manufacturing plant at this time. He holds an unexpired lease on his present quarters.

In Manufacturing Field.

Mr. Green recently invented and patented four articles used by wearers of eyeglasses. Some time ago he started manufacturing them, and as the demand increased, he engaged more extensively in the business, opening a workshop in the basement. He now has a force of workmen engaged and is daily increasing the output of his stock. The business has assumed such proportions that his entire time is demanded in attending to it.

One of the principal and most popular of Mr. Green's inventions is an automatic contrivance for holding eyeglasses when not in use. It is a small metal case containing a chain to which the glasses are fastened. The case is pinned to a coat lapel or dress and when the wearer desires to use his glasses, the chain to which the lenses are secured may be pulled out to any desired length. Devices of similar nature have been on the market for some time, but Mr. Green's is smaller, more artistic and has many new features of improvement.

FARMERS BEAT OFF RAIL CREW

Army of 200 Refills Cut at Grade Crossing Near Lima, Ohio.

RALLY 'ROUND FLAG

Lima, O., Nov. 19.—An army of 200 determined Allen county farmers, rallying around an American flag and armed with picks and shovels, fought off a construction gang of the Chicago and Erie Railway company yesterday and refilled a grade crossing cut near here undoing work which had cost the railroad thousands of dollars.

The clash was a result of the railroad's refusal to keep the highway open while a bridge across the Erie double tracking was in the course of construction.

Blood flowed freely in the general fight between the farmers and the railroad laborers, although no one was seriously hurt.

The farmers hoisted a large American flag at the point of conflict and declared that they would maintain their stand with rifles if necessary.

Hundreds of dollars worth of hay and straw were dumped into the cut by the farmers in their eagerness to refill the excavation. More serious results are being anticipated by the sheriff's office in the event of the railroad attempts to proceed with the work.

Allen died shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. Operations were performed on Fay Butler, the waiter, and Mondscheim.

Baggage May Yield Secret.

The police have in their possession today two steamer trunks, a valise, a dress suit case, a hand bag and a seamer bag, which, when opened, are expected to reveal the secret, if not the loot, of many big robberies and may lead to arrests in other cities. The trailing of the pair yesterday, which resulted in the fatal shooting, followed directly the arrest of a dishonest servant girl. She is Sophie Beckendorf, a girl of 18, who broke down in the Tombs yesterday, confessed to several robberies and implicated Vogel as the "fence" for servant girls who made it their practice to answer advertisements and accept positions with the sole idea of robbery. She told the police of Vogel's whereabouts and within an hour he had been trailed to the hotel where the fight occurred.

Wanted for Robbery.

Vogel was about 48 years old and the woman about 25. The detectives were on the trail of the pair suspecting them of having been accomplices in a diamond robbery for which Sophie Beckendorf, a domestic, had been held for the grand jury today. The woman, who had lost the jewels, traced the girl to Vogel's house and told the detectives of her discovery. After a taxicab chase yesterday the detectives learned that the Vogel's had sought lodging at the Elsmere hotel at Cortlandt avenue and 161st street, in the Bronx.

Central Office Detective Martin F. Fay and Private Detectives John Allen and Louis Gerade went to the hotel in search of their quarry last last night. Louis Mondschein, the proprietor, told of the couple having arrived in a taxicab in the evening and ordered William Butler, a waiter, to show the detectives to the Vogel's room.

Vogel opened the door in response to a summons and as Allen forced his way in declaring that the couple were under arrest. Vogel struck the detective over the head with a black-jack and then grasped a magazine pistol which lay upon the bed. His first bullet struck Allen in the head and he fell, probably fatally hurt. Detective Fay and Gerade rushed into the room followed by Proprietor Mondschein and Butler. It is declared that they did not fire a shot, but expected to seize Allen's assassin. They were not quick enough. Vogel let go one shot after another, nearly, every one taking effect. Fay and Mondschein both received fatal wounds in the abdomen, Gerade was shot in the leg and back and Butler received a bad wound in the hip.

Woman Opened Fire.

The woman also armed had fired several shots, some of which, it is believed, hit the detective. Evidently crazed at his gun work Vogel turned his gun upon his young woman companion. She was shot through the abdomen and soon expired. Vogel made quick work of himself by putting the last bullet from his gun into his head and fell dead.

The police say that in trailing the Vogel pair the detectives were probably running down a completely organized scheme for robbing residences throughout the upper west side. The indictment on which the Beckendorf girl was held, charged her with numerous robberies of jewels, amounting to several thousand dollars.

According to the police the girl broke down last night and confessed that the Vogels were with her and it was to them she had given the stolen articles. The plan of operation was for the girl to advertise for a situation as domestic and as soon as she had obtained it to rob her employer's house.

appoint peace plenipotentiaries the allied Balkan nations notified the powers of the step they had taken and thanked them for their offer of mediation. They added that mediation was no longer necessary as the Porte had addressed itself directly to the Balkan states who would now treat with Turkey without outside intervention.

That the terms of the victors will be drastic is known, but the powers are doing their utmost to make them less harsh than was at first mooted, without attempting to rob the Balkan confederacy of the fruits of its war.

With the jealous eyes of Russia on Constantinople with the recrudescence of the Austria-Servian difficulty over what has heretofore been known as European Turkey and with Roumania inquiring what she may expect out of the spoils, there seems to observers to be every inducement for the allied Balkan nations to keep their demands within moderate limits.

Adds Fuel to Flames.

The occupation of Alessio by the combined Servian and Montenegrin armies, giving them another foothold on the Adriatic sea, is considered in diplomatic circles likely to add fuel to the flames of the Austro-Servian dispute which have again blazed up in a critical way. Emperor Francis Joseph is reported to have remarked: "We are in favor of peace, but not of peace at any price. We cannot stand everything."

The Austro-Hungarian cabinet has sent a sharp note to the Servian government at Belgrade demanding a precise reply to all the questions at issue. The Zeit says the note was distinctly threatening in tone and adds:

"Vigorous military measures will give emphasis to the diplomatic demands should Serva's answer again be unsatisfactory."

Some papers assert that Servia is preparing to concentrate her main forces on the Austrian frontier. Diplomatic circles do not exclude teh possibility that the Servians, relying on the sympathy of the Slavs in Austria-Hungary and on the support of her Balkan allies, may challenge an issue.

IN A LAW SUIT ABOUT AN ORGAN

Was the Antiquated Instrument a Present, or Was It Only Out on a Loan?

Andrews, Ind., Nov. 19.—Justice Strevy, of Andrews, will be called upon Thursday to rule upon a matter which has much to do with the peace and happiness of two families of his town. The matter relates to the possession of an antiquated organ which has seen service in Andrews during the last twenty-five years, but which changed hands a few years ago.

The parties concerned are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Heiney and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lambert. Twenty-five years ago the Heineys purchased the musical instrument and after useing it at their home until they thought it should be disposed of a deal was made with the Lamberts. This was three years ago. The organ has been in the Lambert home since then. Mr. and Mrs. Lambert contend that they received the instrument as a present and on the other hand Mr. and Mrs. Heiney say that they only loaned the organ to them.

At any rate, the Heineys now want the organ back and have instituted replevin proceedings in Squire Strevy's court.

The matter has been set for hearing Thursday afternoon. Attorney George Young, of Andrews, will represent the plaintiffs and Attorney Charles R. Haller, of Huntington, will appear for the defendants.

DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR A BAD LIVER OR SLUGGISH BOWELS.

This gentle, effective fruit laxative thoroughly cleans your stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels of sour bile, poisons, gases and clogged-up waste.

A harmless cure for sick headache for biliousness, for a sour, gassy, disordered stomach, for constipation, indigestion, coated tongue, sallowness, pimples—take delicious Syrup of Figs. For the cause of all these troubles lies in a torpid liver and sluggish condition of your thirty feet of bowels.

A teaspooniul of Syrup of Figs tonight means all poisonous waste matter, the undigested, fermenting food and sour bile, gently moved on and out of your system by morning, without griping, nausea or weakness. It means a cheery day tomorrow—many bright days thereafter.

Please don't think of gentle, effective Syrup of Figs as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself, for luscious figs, senna and aromatics can not injure anyone.

This remarkable fruit preparation is a wonderful stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, regulator and tonic, the safest and most positive ever devised.

The day of violent purgatives, such as calomel, pills, salts and castor oil is past. They were all wrong. You got relief, but at what a cost! They acted by flooding the bowels with fluids, but these fluids were digestive juices. Syrup of Figs embody only harmless laxatives, which act in a natural way. It does what right food would do—what eating lots of fruit and what plenty of exercise will do for the liver, stomach and bowels.

Be sure you get the old reliable and genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by The California Fig Syrup Company. Hand back, with scorn, any Fig Syrup imitation recommended as "just as good."

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this:

Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT.

A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 50 cent bottle will start the cure and give you instant relief.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this D. D. D. Prescription to a skin sufferer here and there, and we want you to try it now on our postive no pay guarantee. Dreier Drug Co., 526 Calhoun street; 1402 Calhoun street.—Adv.

Mr. McCulloch's View.

Hon. Charles McCulloch, referred to as the possible nominee of one of the political parties for mayor of Fort Wayne, declares that he does not want a party nomination for the place because the administration of municipal affairs should be a business and not a political proposition. A good many men are now taking the same view of municipal affairs, and the number is steadily increasing. That the movement to take municipal matters out of politics is making marked headway is disclosed by the advance of the commission plan idea as well as other forms designed to accomplish the same results—notable among them being the business plan devised by Theodore F. Thieme, of this city. American cities have clung to the old political system largely for lack of some practical and convenient method of escape that promised relief from the evils that attend the old form. Without the faintest trace of a party principle or a party policy involved in the legitimate administration of municipal affairs, the time is coming when we're all going to be amazed that we so long allowed municipal authority to be made the football of the political game, and heave some tremendous sighs of relief that we have gotten away from it at last.

The awarding of the contract for the erection of the new Pennsylvania passenger station in FortWayne apparently marks the last of the preliminaries for this desperately-needed improvement, which have extended over a period of several years, and which have been characterized by a long series of conferences, negotiations, changes and other time-consuming operations in order to arrive at the present stage of proceedings. But now that we have arrived, the fact is immensely gratifying to the people of Fort Wayne, for the Pennsylvania company can be depended upon to produce a structure that will be not only a model of convenience to itself and the traveling public, but an ornament to the city.

South Bend is embroiled in a war on fuel prices that is causing as much uproar as a graft investigation. The charge has been made that a combine exists among coal dealers there, and the latter gentlemen come back promptly with an offer to submit to an X-ray examination to prove that there isn't even a suspicion of a trust in the local trade. From casual observation, South Bend appears to be needlessly alarmed. It isn't getting any worse the worst of it than the rest of the ultimate consumers under the arrangement the coal barons framed up for us this season.

Lakeside folk, who are entitled to the distinction of inaugurating and completing the first bit of civic beautification in Fort Wayne with the cleaning of the Maumee river banks a few years ago, are now leading the way in a new step that proposes the illumination of the Lakeside bridge, and they're doing it by private subscription. Lakeside is certainly setting an admirable example to other section of the city.

FORT WAYNE MOTHERS.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The mothers of Fort Wayne, who have children in the high schools, have organized a parent-teachers' association, the purpose of which is to co-operate with the schools in the care and training of the young people. There ought to be such an institution as this in Indianapolis and in every other city. The weak place in our educational system is found in the lack of contact between parents and teachers. Many people seem to assume that because the state does so much for their children it can be trusted to do everything, and so there has been a weakening in the sense of parental responsibility. For these reasons, if for no others, the Fort Wayne organization is to be hailed as a very important step to better conditions.

As to the various reforms that it is proposed to institute at Fort Wayne, such as the abolition of fraternities, sororities and all-night dances, little need be said, since such reforms are so manifestly desirable. Here again, however, some foolish parents have stood with their children and against the school authorities who have sought to enforce the law against fraternities. And generally the attitude of these people is that, though the schools are clothed with great responsibilities in the training of the children, they have no right to exercise any restraint over them. So we have what are virtually combinations between parents and children to evade or nullify salutary laws.

Mrs. W. H. Creighton, president of the Fort Wayne association, says:

"The common interest of all mothers is the happiness of their children, and when we permit them to do things that are injurious to their health and morals we do wrong, and we are not doing our duty."

Mrs. Creighton spoke of all-night dances followed by automobile rides to the suburbs for breakfast, of visits to the hotels by children without chaperons, and of boys who had been seen on the downtown streets in evening clothes as late as 9 o'clock in the morning. There was unanimous agreement that high school conditions ought to be improved. Here, it seems to us, is a problem that ought to enlist the interest of every parent with children in the high schools. The Fort Wayne mothers propose to solve it. Mothers in other cities would do well to follow their example.

MARCHING ORDERS.

(New York World.)

Governor Wilson's purpose to call an extra session of congress soon after his inauguration as president will be accepted as foreshadowing the first of the marching orders anxiously awaited by a progressive democracy.

It is a purpose which will be applauded by men of all parties and by business and industry of every description—even by reactionaries and standpatters, who long ago made up their minds that, whether the prospect was agreeable to them or not, a change in the wicked taxing methods of the United States was inevitable.

The nation-wide demand for action which Governor Wilson now wisely recognizes has rested not so much upon a desire for specific measures of relief as upon a determination that some response to the people's wishes be made at the earliest possible day.

The voter has voted too long in vain. He does not expect that government and society will be quickly made over and perfected, but he does want to know whether public opinion is to have any controlling influence upon public servants.

That their patience with official delays and treacheries is almost exhausted is shown by the rapid rise of two strange parties of violence and protest.

No good reason can be urged at any time for a new congress remaining idle for thirteen months. At this crisis in our affairs, political, economic and social, delay is not only unwarranted but dangerous to every legitimate interest.

In many important matters the people have not ruled this country of late, and they know it.

The extra session opens the way for a prompt resumption of popular responsibility, too long a pretense and a disappointment.

In itself a recognition of the people's rights and duties, the extra session should allay excitement, stimulate sober action and promote nothing but justice.

TO GET OUT THE VOTE.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

In France, too, the stay-at-home voter is a problem, so much so, indeed, that the government is seriously considering legislation that will deal with him. With the adoption of proportional representation, insuring that votes cast for the candidates of minority parties of any importance will be proportionately represented by members in the national legislature, it is argued that there is stronger reason why every elector should cast his ballot. But on how to induce or compel him to do so opinion differs. One element thinks failure to vote should be made punishable by fine. Another suggests that neglect to go to the polls should be followed by the temporary removal of the voter's name from the electorate, and if persisted in the disfranchisement should be made permanent. Bills embodying each of these theories are now before the French senate.

What gain will it be to the country to compel voting by citizens so indifferent that it requires fear of a fine to make them go to the polls? On the other hand, those who habitually fail to vote will not be disturbed by striking their names off the registry of electors. If they valued the privilege they would use it. The removal of their names will not help the country because it will leave them, so far as their effect on the nation is concerned, just as they were before.

The non-voting citizen is a problem that can best be solved by personal conviction. It must be brought home to the stay-at-home voter that he ought to vote, not by fine or disfranchisement if he fails, but by reason and education.

PURE MISREPRESENTATION.

Editor Sentinel: There appeared in the Abendpost of yesterday an editorial item of which the following is a translation:

"The park board has made a present of a strip of land along Thieme drive to the abutting property holders, in order that the Wildwood Builders will be enabled to erect an apartment house with eighteen apartments. No remonstrance was filed. Perhaps there are more people in Fort Wayne who would gladly receive so valuable a present, especially since the cost of the pavement and sidewalks must be paid by the property in that park district."

I am at a loss, Mr. Editor, to account for the unreasoning malice of Anselm Fuelber toward our board of park commissioners, which is constantly cropping out in the columns of his paper. If his criticisms were within a thousand miles of the truth there might not be so much cause of complaint. This editorial note I have quoted is a good illustration of the total disregard for truth which he exhibits.

He asserts that "the park board has made a present of a strip of land along Thieme drive to the abutting property owners."

The truth is, that we are preparing to take away from the abutting property owners a strip of ground 25 feet wide, in order to widen Thieme drive, which is now 40 feet, to 65 feet, and this is being done over the protest of practically every one of such property holders, who do not feel they are being allowed for the ground to be taken what it is really worth.

He asserts that we have made a present of this strip of ground to the abutting property holders for a corrupt purpose, that the Wildwood Builders may be enabled to erect an apartment house of eighteen apartments.

Men universally judge the motives of others by those which actuate themselves. The measure of the kind of service Mr. Fuelber would give the publicis shown by the kind of service he expects others will give. The fact is that Mr. Noll, who did own the piece of ground that has been acquired by the Wildwood Builders, felt that he was about to be damaged, by the ground to be taken by the park board, to double the amount the board was willing to allow him, and rather than have an unpleasant disagreement over the matter an effort was made to find someone who would purchase and improve this strip of ground with the understanding that only one-half of what Mr. Noll desired as damages would be allowed the new purchaser. That is what the Wildwood Builders will receive.

He asserts that the cost of the pavements and sidewalks must be paid by the northwest park district. Such a statement is both false and absurd. Such improvements will be made by the abutting property—private property on one side and park property on the other.

DAVID N. FOSTER,
Park Commissioner.

EASY AND SURE WAY TO CURE COLDS

Don't Neglect a Cold, Ely's Cream Balm Will Stop It in the Sneezing Stage.

A cold generally attacks the weakest part, affecting the eyes and ears in some and producing nasal catarrh and throat troubles in others. A cold is due to an inflamation of the membrane lining the air passages and may be promptly cured with a little Ely's Cream Balm which immediately relieves thei nflamation and all the distressing symptoms, such as sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and eyes, hoarseness, sore throat, fever and headache. One reason why this pure, antiseptic Balm acts so quickly is because it is applied directly to the tender, sore surfaces.

Even in severe chronic cases of catarrh Ely's Cream Balm never fails to quickly and effectually check the poisonous discharge which clogs the head and throat, causing the disgusting hawking, spitting and blowing of the nose. This remedy not only drives out the disease, but heals and strengthens the weakened membranes, thus ending catarrh.

Catarrh is a filth,, disgusting disease. Don't put up with it another day. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and see how quickly you will be relieved. It is perfectly harmless. Agents Meyer Bros. Co.—Adv.

EMBALMS ROOSTER FOR TRIAL.

Sergeant Evolves Novel Scheme for Keeping Exhibit "A" Fresh.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Exhibit "A" in the coming trial of Peter Kaiser, 6952 Pingree street, will be an embalmed rooster.

Kaiser will be arraigned on a charge of having stolen a rooster from Fred Lutgen, 2220 Morse avenue. When the theft was reported to the police, Sergeant Ford discovered the supposed evidence in the Kaiser home, just about to enter the official Kaiser frying pan. The sergeant appropriated the dead rooster.

"I've got the goods," he reported over the telephone, "but the trouble is that the goods is perishable. When the trial comes the chicken will have—er—well, the chicken won't be a chicken any more."

But the problem was solved by the sergeant. "I'll tell you what I can do," he said in a later report, "I can have the thing embalmed."

So the rooster was taken to an undertaking establishment and now is guaranteed to look as natural as life and to be just as good as new.

The Lincoln Life is now in its new quarters, third floor, Lincoln Life Building, 217 E. Berry street. 14-6t

The New Regal Peninsular Triple Heating Base Burner

Is the Only Heater of This Generation to Show Any Positive Improvement

The REGAL is the one Base Burner which radiates heat from every square inch of its surface.

In the ordinary Base Burner the ash pit bottom and sides are not utilized as heat-giving surfaces. On the Regal the entire space below the side doors is made so that it discharges heat into the room.

Everyone knows that the hottest part of a range or a cook stove is the oven bottom and the same is true with the ash pit bottom of a Base Burner.

In the REGAL this heat is utilized by the Triple flue. By this new system the air is taken from the floor underneath the heater and passed up between the upper Flue Bottom and Ash Pit Bottom into this Triple Flue, where it is heated to a very high degree, and is discharged out through openings on the ash pit sides underneath the foot rails. By the use of this Triple Flue, over 660 square inches of extra radiating surface is put to work and will give off enough heat to warm a medium sized room.

No other Base Burner utilizes this space, although it measures over one-half of the total radiating surface below the mica doors. Nor is the ash pan made smaller or crowded by the using this valuable space.

Few Days Delay in Appointment of Thompson as Treasurer.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Carmi Thompson, secretary to President Taft, will be appointed treasurer of the United States within the next few days to succeed Lee McClung, who resigned from the position last week.

It was understood that Mr. Thompson would be named to the place and take the oath of office today, but Charles D. Hilles, who will return to the position of secretary to President Taft and who returned to Washington last night, will take three or four days' vacation before resuming the task which he held before he became republican national chairman.

MAKE STUDY OF CARTOONS.

Young Ladies in Normal Training School Watch Political Events.

That the members of the senior class of the Fort Wayne normal school have been keeping a critical eye on the various cartoons which have appeared in the newspapers and magazines during the campaign just closed, develops today in the announcement that the young ladies have since Jan. 1 been making collections of the best "picture editorials" of America's cartoonists. The work of making the collections originated in the plan of Miss Flora Wilber, principal of the school, who asked the members of the class to watch the cartoons beginning with last January, and to select from them all those which most impressed them as being the most worthy. These have been mounted in books and have been submitted to Miss Wilber, who has asked that a committee of three—one from each of the Fort Wayne English dailies—be named to judge the relative merits of the collections.

"The object of the contest," explained Miss Wilber today, "is to awaken a wider interest among the young ladies in the leading national, state and local political news and problems. The plan seems to have succeeded well."

The committee is being named today.

THE QUEEN OF THE DOLL BOOTH

IT BEGINS TONIGHT

One of the interesting contests at the bazar of the St. Patrick's Catholic church, which commences this evening at the St. Patrick's lyceum hall, will be the doll contest of the L. C. B. A., the entries for which close on Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock, but the contest continuing until Friday evening at 10:30 o'clock.

The prize to be contested for is a beautiful doll and handsomely dressed and known as "Miss Georgiana, the Queen of the Doll Booth." The doll is 33 inches tal and occupies the most prominent place in the doll booth. In charge of the contest is the following committee: Miss Kate Favery, chairman; Mrs. A. Parisot and Mrs. McGuire.

The entries so far made in the contest are as follows: Marie Delegrange, Dorothy Swift, Kathleen Hayes, May O'Dowd, Eileen Cull, Lucille Fry, Collette Cullen, Catherine Lynch, Henrietta Lauer, Grace Phillips, Irene Miller and Catherine Rock. Other entries will, no doubt, be made this and tomorrow evening.

It is a voting contest and the cost of a vote is one cent. It promises to be the most lively contest of the bazar. The queen of the dolls is given to the winner, but every other contestant will be given a doll.

The L. C. B. A. booth is in charge of Mrs. Mary Cook as president and is one among the handsomest booths in the hall. There are seven booths in all. These are arranged in the center of the hall and all handsomely decorated, being in a row extending north and south. The six other booths are managed as follows:

Rosary—Mrs. Emma Kennelly, president; Mrs. Frank Klotz, secretary; Mrs. Mary Flaherty, treasurer.

Young Ladies Sodality—Miss Bergie Connors, president; Miss Lottie Quinn, secretary; Miss Agnes Cunningham, Miss Mary McNulty, Miss Winifred Daley.

The wheel of fortune is in charge of Miss Stella Wenhoff and the A. O. H. booth, with Mrs. Agnes Pennoyer as president. At the head of the alumnae booth is Miss Schiefer.

The "cuisine department," which is where the bazar patrons get the good things to eat, is in charge of Mrs. Jerry O'Rourke and Mrs. J. P. Haley, and it is most ably managed.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the bazar this evening. It will continue every night this week. Reineke's orchestra will furnish the music.

DOCTORS INDORSE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE FOR THE HAIR

When a doctor endorses a preparation it means more than an ordinary testimonial. His opinion is always that of the professional man devoted to the welfare of the people

Dr. J. J. Boyd, Covington, Tenn., says: "I felt it my duty to write this for the benefit of those suffering from dandruff. In the average case a few applications of Newbro's Herpicide will remove all dandruff. It is advisable to continue its use for several weeks."

The words of J. B. Thompson, M. D., No. 2 Burrough Place, Cor. Hollis St., Boston, Mass., are not less enthusiastic: "I can only speak in praise of Newbro's Herpicide. It is all that is claimed and perhaps more. Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp but brightens the hair, gives it life and makes it soft."

Dr. T. A. Moore, Duncan, Ariz., writes of his experience: "My scalp was in places covered by patches of dry, scaly material and the itching wasinceessenat. Since using Herpicide all these evils have disappeared and my hair is soft, smooth and growing. Hair has grown on spots before but thinly covered."

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy to kill the dandruff germ and stop falling hair. The terrible itching which goes with dandruff is allayed almost at once.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications may be obtained at the leading barber shops. Be sure you get genuine Herpicide. Send 10c in postage for sample and book to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

PLEA FOR FRATERNITIES.

Educator Says They Should Exist in State Universities.

Washington, Nov. 19.—That college fraternities have a right to exist in the state universities, because they are natural social organizations, was urged by Prof. R. M. Hughes, acting president of that university, at the second day's session of the National Association of State Universities. Dr. Robert J. Aley, president of University of Maine, formerly head of the mathematic department at Indiana university, urged that the responsibility of university management be placed upon the students. He said under-classmen lack in experience and should not be consulted; but student councils made up of older classmen acting in conjunction with a committee from the faculty had rendered excellent service in the management of student affairs at the University of Maine.

Mrs. Harry Eberline and children, of Detroit, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Foellinger, of West Woodland avenue. A number of parties will be given in honor of Mrs. Eberline during her visit which will extend over Thanksgiving. Last evening Mrs. Martin Luecke gave a supper party in honor of her sister, Mrs. Eberline, tomorrow afternoon Miss Mary Lee, of Washington boulevard west, will entertain for her and on next Tuesday Mrs. Foellinger will give a company for her daughter. Mr. Eberline will join his family here for Thanksgiving.

Announcement is made of the coming marriage of Miss Elizabeth Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller, of Barr street, to Henry L. Archbold, of Los Angeles, Cal., which will take place very soon at the rectory of the Cathedral of that city. Miss Gage has been in charge of the novelty department of the Rurode store for several years, and has been admired for her ability as much as for her unfailing courtesy and agreeable manner. Mr. Archbold, whom Miss Gage is to wed, was graduated from Carnegie Technical institute, Pittsburg, and is a civil engineer in the employ of the Southern Pacific railroad. Miss Gage was educated in St. Augustine's academy.

Fleishman—Kraus.

A quiet wedding took place on Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Apfelbaum, of West Wayne street, when Miss Elsie Kraus, daughter of Mr. L. Kraus, formerly of Columbia City, and Mr. Henry E. Fleishman, of Chicago, were married by Rabbi Tobias Shanfarber. Only immediate relatives and a few of the nearest friends were present. Mrs. C. A. Horton and Miss Carlie Olds furnished music with harp and violin. Miss Rose Kraus was the bridesmaid and Mr. Morton Herzog, of Pittsburg, was the groom's attendant. The bride's father gave her in marriage. The pretty bride looked very well in her wedding costume. Her gown was of white satin charmeuse made with a train and trimmed handsomely with princess point lace. The bridal veil was fashioned into a cap edged with point lace. The bride carried a book-marker of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was gowned in a pale blue embroidered chiffon made over yellow lace, and she held a bouquet of pink roses. After the impressive wedding service and congratulations Mrs. Schumaker catered for an elegant wedding dinner. The decorations were pink and white chrysanthemums and smilax and ferns, with pink hooded candles. The bride and groom left on a trip and on their return will go to housekeeping in Illinois avenue, Chicago. The bride is a charming young woman who has made friends rapidly among her acquaintances here. The out of town guests were Mrs. S. Fleishman, of Pittsburg, mother of the groom; Miss Levy, of Chicago; Mr. M. R. Crauerman, Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. S. Apfelbaum, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wetzstein and Miss Irma Apfelbaum, all of Columbia City; Mr. and Mrs. M. Mayerfield, of South Bend; Mrs. J. Frohman, Cincinnati.

BILLIE BURKE REVEALS A GREAT SECRET!

Second Article in the Series on the New System of Physical Culture.

POSED BY MISS FRAGER OF "THE CHARITY GIRL" CO.

By BILLIE BURKE.

THE FIRST WORD—If you keep the muscles of your face stretched upward you will ward off old age.

* * *

When you get a feeling of morbid self-analysis and you have an idea that your doll is filled with sawdust, try the deep breathing method.

Now I am going to tell you a very great secret: Many actors and actresses suffer untold agony on first nights. Stage fright is one of the most terrible disorders that can effect one. I have found, however, that if before I leave my dressing room I stand upright, raise my hands above my head, and take four long breaths, filling my lungs to the utmost capacity, stretching them upward and outward as far as possible, that it has the greatest quieting effect upon my nerves. I think if many self-conscious young women would do this before they enter a room full of company they would find it would be much easier for them to appear comfortable and well poised.

For incipient wrinkles about the mouth and for bringing up the contour of the chin, close your mouth and puff out your cheeks full of wind, stretching them to the fullest capacity. Throw your head back, still keeping your lungs and mouth full of air and inhaling as much as possible, until your throat fills out; this will help prevent the aging of your neck, obliterate the coming lines of your nose to the corner of your mouth, and round your chin.

For smoothing out the wrinkles across your forehead, lift your eyebrows as far as possible, pulling them down into a frown. Notice when you do this how the skin draws at the base of your head just where your hair begins to grow upon your neck. This will loosen your scalp and have a good effect upon your hair.

Sometime during the day open and shut your hands to the fullest extent, stretching all your fingers; and move your foot up and down from the ankle joint, stretching the muscles about them.

Once a month, at least, lie down upon your bed and have some friend take hold of your foot and pull it out as far as possible, slightly twisting it about in the hip joint. Then let her pull your arms in the same manner.

The movement where you stretch the head back, which affects your abdominal muscles, will also affect your neck and spine; this special movement has also a quieting effect upon one and is splendid for sleeplessness.

You can easily see from what I have said about these stretching exercises that they can be taken during different times of the day, that those I have given for the morning will only take up about ten minutes, over the time that you are dressing. I am quite sure that any girl who gets into the habit of practicing them daily will find that she is the gainer of grace, suppleness, strength and a fine figure.

JUST ONE LAST WORD—The kind of physical culture is not so important as it is that you practice SOME kind.

MOVING PICTURES THIS WEEK.

Beautiful Music Accompanies Entertainment at Majestic Theater.

The Majestic theater was packed last night at the opening of the moving picture entertainment to be given there this week with the exception of Friday, and on such other nights as there is no theatrical entertainment. The orchestra was screened by palms on the stage and the added attraction of Nicolai Zedeler, celloist, contributed more than the usual enjoyment. There were four films shown and tonight there will be a change. Manager Rice declared himself not wholly satisfied and that he will keep on improving the character of the films until he gets the best there is to be had. People seemed pleased and the big audience spoke for approval of the people for this departure from "dark nights" at the Majestic. People who went last night were given coupons for either tonight's or tomorrow's entertainment.

AT THE TEMPLE

You'll begin with a laugh and end with another one if you see the Temple vaudeville this week. Not that the Gaumont weekly pictures are especially amusing, for they are more entertaining than funny, but you'll smile at the grace and lightness of foot of dainty Jeannette Mozar, who with Johnny Hoey, have a stunt they call "The Lady and Her Groom." The two players are cleaverer than their lines and they are especially good in the last part of their act.

The number at the end at which you will laugh is the big headliner of the bill, Jean Bedini and Roy Arthur, who style themselves the jovial jugglers. They have a right to the name. The act is exceptionally entertaining and it makes the biggest hit of the bill. The smile the two jugglers leave on your faces won't come off until you stop thinking about them.

A beautiful feature of the bill is Zenita, called the cyclonic violinist. It is a charming act. Zenita is a violinist of an astonishing personality. She has such an abundance of verve that expresses itself in her entire performance. Zenita plays beautifully and her dancing at the same time she plays is startling in beauty and rhythmic grace. She is artistically dressed and the entire act is charming.

The other beautiful number of the bill is Fields and Coco, European equilibrists. Their work is new and shows wonderful strength and poise, while there is none of the unpleasant and tortuous looking twists and moves sometimes seen in acts of this character. These two men are easy to watch and their skill brought much applause.

Lew Pistel and O. H. Cushing have a funny line of talk that gets the audience to laughing in about two minutes. Their act is one of the liveliest and they certainly do get off some funny things as the "stranded minstrels." The other laugh-maker is Arthur Dunn, a well known New York comedian, and company, in "The Messenger Boy." Mr. Dunn is not generally familiar to Fort Wayne audiences, but he will be after this week. He is a clever comedian, who doesn't need to resort to buffoonery to raise a laugh. Until you have seen him play the piano you have something to look forward to.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

An unusual event at the Majestic theater will be the presentation of Ludwig Ganghofer's German masterpiece, "Almenrausch und Edelweiss," by the peasant players of Oberammergau, on Friday night, November 22. The German company producing this play was brought here direct from the Bavarian Alps. The production is an unusual one in many ways. These players have lived the lives they depict on the stage. With them it is not acting. The play which they produce here, one of the many which they have on their repertoire, is laid in the Alps, as are all their plays, which are especially written for them.

The theatergoers in Fort Wayne, who are familiar with the German language, have, during the last seven seasons, seen quite a few German productions, some excellent ones and a few poor productions, which were a disappointment to them. There will certainly not be any disappointment in this production, as it stands by itself. The members of the company are not of the Passion Play company, but they are finished actors who have received their training under the same conditions as do the performers in the famous Passion plays.

The company carries its own orchestra, consisting of their musical instruments, which they use in their rural districts. The audience to this performance will have an opportunity to see the famous "Schuhplattler" dances and hear the Bavarian warbling and songs, a feature which has never been imitated on the American stage.

These typical German peasants — there are sixteen in the cast—with their quaint peasant costumes, their true rural manners and dialects, found favor with critical New York audiences for one hundred nights at the Irving Place theater. This success has been duplicated in every city in which they have appeared.

Seats for this production are now on sale at the Majestic box office.

Historic Landmark, Site of Pioneer Seminary, Now Giving Way to Fort Wayne's Newest Theatre

Old Residence on West Jefferson Street, Now Being Razed, Was Once an Early Educational Institution, Erected in 1841 — How Realty Values Have Grown.

The demolition of the old brick residence at 116 West Jefferson street, the property of A. L. Randall, to give place to the new Jefferson theater building that will be erected there, is the passing of one of the old landmarks of Fort Wayne.

It had stood there over seventy-one years, and when it was built was looked upon as a mansion in the country, for then the locality was far from the business center of the town, with few residences or buildings of any character near to it.

It was built in 1841 by Claus Peters, one of the early pioneers of Fort Wayne. The lot on which it stood is lot 421 in Hanna's addition. Mr. Peters purchased it from Samuel Hanna for $275, the deed bearing the date of August of 1840. When some months ago Mr. Randall purchased the property he paid $20,000 for it. The lot is 60x150 feet, the 60 feet front being on Jefferson.

This pioneer brick residence which Mr. Peters built was at first used by the German Lutherans as a seminary located here then, and two of its early teachers were Dr. Wm. Sihler and Prof. Walther. This seminary was quite a noted one in its time. It continued in existence for some years, the outgrowth being the Lutheran seminary of today at St. Louis.

It was attended by a large number of Lutheran young men from this city and other places. Among its graduates was Rev. Stubnatzy, who for years was the pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church. The seminary proper was in this old brick building. The students, or rather some of them, roomed and boarded in a frame house that stood on the east side and towards the back end of the lot.

When the seminary was transferred to another location the owner, Mr. Peters, made interior changes in this recently demolished structure and moved into it with his family. His death occurred in 1849. Afterwards his widow married William Paul. It was in this old brick residence that John C. Peters and Henry C. Paul, both well known and prominent Fort Wayne residence of today, were born.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Paul continued to live there for something like twenty years. Then they moved to a more pretentious home a short distance west on the same street. After that the old brick building became a tenement house. Dr. W. T. Ferguson occupied it as a residence and office for nine years and some time later Dr. E. J. McOscar rented it for the same purpose, being there for three years or until he moved into his own home just across the street. Afterwards the old Peters residence had as its tenant George Ames and later tenants, who sublet the rooms to others. It had nine rooms and a basement.

The theater building to be erected on this lot, now rid of its landmark of seventy years standing, will cost $25,000. It will be completed and ready for occupancy before the next New Years' day. The general contract for its building has been let to Paul Kinder, the plans having been drawn by C. R. Weatherhogg, the architect. The front will be of ornamental plaster and in every respect, interior and exterior, the building will be modern.

The edifice is to be built by A. L. Randall for the Jefferson company, of which Mr. Randall is president, Sprague Green, secretary and manager, and Austin Stults, treasurer. It will have a seating capacity of 1,200 and will be conducted as a moving picture house, the largest of that class of theaters in Indiana.

In the tearing down of the old Peters building the workmen found quite a number of old books and papers that were belongings of the Lutheran seminary located there. One of them was the manuscript of a sermon in German writing signed by John Wefel and dated St. Louis, Mo., August 2, 1845. From appearances it had been sent to Fort Wayne in the shape of a letter, the address of which had been obliterated. The manuscript is very badly defaced and shows the marks of age.

BARES HER LIFE IN WITNESS BOX

Woman's Arm is Broken in Crush to Hear Miss Farley Testify

IN MURDER ACTION

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Before a crowd that filled to capacity the criminal court room Cecelia Farley, the stenographer in a state office, who is on trial charged with the murder of Alvin E. Zollinger, an advertising solicitor, today told of her relations with the man whom she claims was accidentally shot.

Many times looking squarely into the eyes of the jurors, the pretty stenographer told of how she met Zollinger at a public dance hall, of how he became infatuated with her; that she did not know that he was a married man and of how the advertising solicitor finally wronged her at her home one night while she was caring for her brothers and sisters while her parents had gone to the theater.

Without Falter in Voice.

Without a falter in her voice Miss Farley told of how she finally learned that Zollinger was married and a father, and of how she pleaded with him to stop his relations with her and return to his wife. According to the witness Zollinger told her at first that he could not live without her, and that if she did not keep company with him he would tell her friends of her intimate relations with him. She said Zollinger annoyed her when she attempted to break off their relations, and that he would not allow her to keep company with other young men.

Miss Farley's testimony was given in a voice which could be heard only by the jurors and those immediately about the witness stand. Miss Farley testified that she had refused propositions of marriage because of her intimate relations with Zollinger.

Woman's Arm Broken.

One woman's arm was broken when she attempted to push through the crowd to an advantageous point. The spectators, mostly women, tugged, shoved and pulled at one another in efforts to gain points of vantage from where they could see the young woman defendant as she was expected to relate the story of her life for the last seven years, dating back to the time when she met Zollinger at a skating rink in Cleveland, and leading up with each event, to the fatal shooting which resulted in the arrest of herself and fiance, Jerome Quigley. The grand jury released Quigley but held his intended bride on a first degree murder charge.

Many of the women brought camp stools and carried sandwiches upon which they expected to make their noonday lunch. A mantle piece six feet high, upon which a half dozen women perched yesterday, expecting Miss Farley to take the stand, was in demand again today and before court opened five women sat upon this spot with their feet dangling high above the floor.

IS BEGINNING TO FORGET POLITICS

Governor Wilson at Bermuda Devotes Day to Prosaic Unpacking.

ANOTHER BED NEEDED

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 19.—President-elect Wilson declared today that he is beginning to forget politics. Mrs. Wilson and the other members of the family have been busily engaged in unpacking.

The injury sustained by Mr. Wilson in an automobile accident before the election does not trouble him any more. The plaster covering the wound on his head came off today showing that the abrasion had healed.

After the hubbub of landing and the greetings, official and otherwise, had been safely passed through yesterday, the governor and his family proceeded to "set up housekeeping" in the private cottage rented for their use.

Everything proceeded nicely until the president-to-be began counting noses and taking an inventory of the available supply of beds at the same time. To his amazement he discovered that the party was one bed shy of the necessary number.

Governor Wilson was not to be "stumped" in this predicament. He planned to remedy the situation and lost no time. Securing a boat, the distinguished Jerseyite announced that he intended rowing over to this city across the bay to obtain the necessary bed.

Rejects Offers of Help.

Despite objections of the household and offers of assistance from neighbors, the boat, which quickly set out across the water, contained Wilson—that's all. When it returned there was a regular bed as a passenger.

The governor seemed to think his feat was nothing unusual and said he had enjoyed his trip very much.

The Wilson household has now settled down and the occupants expect to be just "home folk" for the remainder of the time here, although there is evidence that the residents of the island do not intend to allow them a great deal of privacy.

On arrival here Mr. Wilson and party were greeted by the city officials and was enthusiastically cheered, especial interest being taken in his arrival by the American sojourners. The mayor made a speech of welcome and in reply Mr. Wilson said:

"As soon as I knew I had been sentenced to four years hard labor, I thought of a rest in Bermuda. The friendship existing between the United States and Great Britain is a very happy and natural one. I hope nothing will happen during my administration to disturb the relations of the two countries."

MAY DRIVE THE PILING.

Pennsylvania to Start Elevation at Harrison if Weather Permits.

If weather conditions will permit the Pennsylvania company will drive piling this fall for the elevation of the tracks at Harrison street. This was promised by Superintendent W. M. Wardop at a meeting with the board of public works.

Work now in progress will be pressed and as much done before winter sets in as the men can accomplish. The board will receive bids on Dec. 1 for the collection of garbage.

Elmer Bisel, superintendent of streets, has asked the aid of the police in stopping the practice of dumping refuse from saloons into the catch basins at street corners. Affidavits will be filed against people caught at the practice.

MORE YET TO BE SERVED.

Girl as Witness in New Probe of Alleged Swindle.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 19.—Miss Clara Kronage, stenographer, who was employed by the firm of Minyard, Kessler & Malcolm, and who is said to have given the information upon which the indictments were returned here against the gang of alleged swindlers arrested in different parts of the country yesterday, will leave today for Buffalo to appear before a grand jury which is to investigate a branch of the alleged swindle in that city. She is expected to be asked to identify letters which the authorities will seek to make the basis of indictments. Besides the seven men arrested yesterday eight warrants remain unserved, it is said.

DUNLAP UNDER ARREST.

Accused of Passing Checks Written by Henry C. Snyder.

Ralph Dunlap, out on a sentence suspended by the circuit court, was today arrested by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel on a charge of having passed checks written and forged by Henry C. Snyder. He forged and cashed a check some time ago and was given a term at Jeffersonville, but this was held over him during good conduct.

WILL GET SOME OTHERS.

New Indictments to Grow Out of Girl Tarring Case.

Norwalk, O., Nov. 19.—That the Huron county grand jury will be summoned Friday to consider the tarring of Miss Minnie La Valley at West Clarksfield last August, and that there is a probability of several new indictments being returned was the announcement of Prosecuting Attorney Don Young today. Ernst Welch was convicted last week of assault and battery in connection with the tarring. Five other men already are under indictment for riotous conspiracy in connection with the tarring, and another will be tried for perjury.

BONDSMEN GIVE UP TWO ACCUSED

CAUSE NOT ASSIGNED

Indianapolis, Nov. 19.—Edward Smythe and James E. Ray, of Peoria, Ill., two of the forty-five of the defendants in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial, were placed in jail today because their bondsmen withdrew the security on which the men had been at liberty.

At the opening of court attorneys for the bondsmen announced they would surrender the prisoners, who then were placed in the custody of the United States marshal. The reason for the withdrawal of the bonds was not given.

Smythe, who is superintendent of construction of the city of Peoria, was former secretary-treasurer of a local iron workers union. In Ortie E. McManigal's confession he frequently was mentioned as having assisted the dynamiter in causing explosions at Peoria. In September, 1910, McManigal said, Smythe helped him put cans of nitroglycerin near jobs that were blown up and then went to a theater so he might have tickets to prove an alibi. In letters quoted by the government Smythe was charged with writing to J. J. McNamara about "a visit of Halley's comet to Peoria."

Ray, former president of a Peoria union, seldom has been mentioned since the trial began.

Smythe and Ray later were brought into court in custody. Efforts were made by the defense to procure new bondsmen.

Testimony was given today concerning explosions at Peoria. Richard Johnson, superintendent of a company which built a bridge at Peoria, said in 1910 Smythe and Herbert S. Hockin solicited him to put union men on the job and Hockin added, "there will be something doing if you don't."

Non-union men were put to work, said the witness, and the first explosion occurred June 4 that year. Three months later the plant of the construction company was blown up. It was this job that McManigal said he blew up with Smythe's aid.

WARDS WERE OVERLOOKED.

State Accountants Find Peculiar Case in Huntington County.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 19.—State accountants going over the books in the county treasurer's office found that Huntington county had two wards in the Julia Work school at Wabash for indigent children. They were Bessie and William Snyder and they had been placed in that charity home more than ten years ago. In some manner the record was misunderstood year after year, but the county continued to pay the annual remittance to the home management. The children have been returned to the infirmary in this county.

FELL AND FRACTURED ANKLE.

Charles Quandt Seriously Hurt in Trying to Extinguish a Fire.

Charles Quandt, a young man living in Madison township, fell Monday afternoon from the roof of a barn at the home of his brother, John Quandt, and sustained a bad fracture of one of his ankles.

An engine that was being used in shredding corn emitted sparks that set fire to the barn and Charles Quandt climbed up to extinguish the blaze. He slipped and fell eighteen feet. Drs. J. L. and Oliver Smith attended him.

DANGEROUS GRASS FIRE.

Heavy Loss Threatened When Dry Grass Burns in Lakeside.

The fire department was called to the new Tennessee avenue bridge shortly after noon today to extinguish a grass fire in that section. When the firemen from No. 1 engine house arrived the flames were merrily crackling through the dry grass. The firemen went after the blaze with brooms and beat it out in this way. Several buildings in close proximity were threatened, but the flames were extinguished before reaching near enough to set them afire.

MRS. SCHERER ASKS A DECREE.

Charges Cruelty, and Wants Alimony from Husband's Estate.

Fredericka M. Scherer entered suit today in the superior court asking a divorce from Louis T. Scherer, to whom she was married in May, 1897. Among other cruelties charged is that he gave her such a severe beating that she carried her hand in a sling for a week. She also says he threatened to kill her. Leonard, Rose & Zollars are attorneys, and a restraining order is asked to prevent him from disposing of his property.

Suit for divorce brought by Josephine Geistdoerfer against Frederick Geistdoerfer has been dismissed.

SENATOR RAYNER BETTER.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Senator Isador Rayner, of Maryland, was somewhat better today. He was able to sit up in bed half an hour and took some nourishment.

A movement has been started to send a large representation of Twelfth district democrats to Washington March 4, for the inauguration, in honor to Thomas R. Marshall, who is to be the next vice-president. If present plans are carried out, the district will be represented by four brass bands, participating in the inauguration ceremonies.

Jerry Kemp, a well-known Fort Wayne man, who was formerly a representative of the Cadillac Auto company, at Indianapolis, has assumed charge of the Little Motor Sales company at 714 Harrison street.

HEILBRONER MAY SHAKE HANDICAP

Privately Owned Teams May Be the Rule in the New Central League.

FIVE OF RIGHT KIND

If the new Central league can rid itself of South Bend or get an individual or a stock company of two or three holders to take the franchise, President Louis Heilbroner will start his career free from one of the greatest handicaps that organized baseball has ever labored under.

The city-owned baseball club is always unsuccessful in its own town and it works great hardships on the private owners in a dozen ways or more.

South Bend is a striking instance of the bad policy of having the business organizations of a city back of baseball. Although the team there gave Fort Wayne an awful chase for two years for the pennant no profit was made because everybody who had a dollar share of stock wanted to be a manager, and there were too many of them.

Bert Annis jumped into the breach, took the team, operated it himself, won a pennant and made a lot of money. Last year a stock company got hold again and dropped about $12,000 and has nothing of value to represent the money spent.

Zanesville has been backed by a business club of some kind for five years, and has just that many distressing seasons from a financial standpoint. Evansville fell down under the chamber of commerce handicap, and so did Newark and so did Springfield as did half a dozen others.

Baseball in cities where either an individual or a company of two or three owns the franchise is not always a success. Teams in the Central league have sustained some heavy losses under these conditions but it has not reached the other owners. Individuals as a rule dig down in their own pockets, pay the losses and stand ready to try to recoup them in another year.

Little publicity is given to these distressing conditions for the reason that the losses fall upon one or two people. Let one of the city-owned clubs fall down and drop a few thousand. Then every man, woman and child takes it upon him or herself to stand on the street corners and tell all about what ought to be done, how lame the management is, where the weak spots are and the remedies that are needed. This spirit spreads to the players and good results cannot be obtained.

And this is not the only trouble. Successful teams and unsuccessful teams in which private capital is invested are forced to make their regular trips to these cities and they never draw enough to pay expenses.

Just at this time it looks like South Bend will stick but there has already been a movement to pass the hat and this will cheapen baseball so that when the season opens the same old story will probably be repeated. Evansville has been suggested as a probable purchaser of the franchise but this deal will be made with some sort of a business organization behind it, and there will be little advantage. Evansville is bigger, but annexing it to the Central will greatly increase the mileage and expenses will, naturally be higher.

KOJI YAMADA.

For the first time in the history of billiards a national championship has been contested for by a Japanese player. That the man from Nippon is qualified to mingle with the first fighters in the world of balk line, was demonstrated when he defeated Willie Hoppe, considered by many the greatest billiardist of the day.

WOOD DON'T LIKE THE GIRL STORY

Omits From His Early Life Period in Which He Was Bloomer Girl.

LOCKED MIGHTY GOOD

Hutchinson, Kan., Nov. 19.—Every time the name of "Smoky Joe" Wood is mentioned Kansas sticks out her chest with pride. Why shouldn't it? Kansas produced him, first recognized his ability and then sent him to Boston where he made a big name for himself as a fancy twirler and a modern giant killer.

The folks of Kansas harbor many interesting memories of Joe in his younger days. Of course he's only a youth yet—in his early twenties—but he was some younger when he operated out on these plains.

It is said that Joe's baseball ambitions first asserted themselves when he was a mere lad. Not having the price of a baseball he induced a kind hearted traveling man to give him one. He didn't know just how to throw a curve, but he went out into a field and whistled for a wind. When it came he hurled the sphere dead against the gale. The result was all that could have been desired. It was his first curve and he has been throwing them ever since.

That Joe was not much of a hand for school is agreed by all. He felt that it interfered with his development as a baseball star. He spent three weeks at the Kansas university, then rushed back into the arms of his first love—the diamond.

There is a legend which Kansas people believe—though Joe doesn't admit it's true—about the giant killer's first experience at professional baseball. A traveling club composed mostly of women visited Ness City and was beaten 19 to 1, largely through the pitching of a lad of 17.

The manager of the Bloomer Girls was charmed with this brilliant twirler's work. "If we had that fellow we'd never lose a game," he said to himself. Then he made the youth a proposition. "I'll take it," said Joe Wood for Joe it was who had done the pitching.

Joe's career from that day on was over paths strewn with roses. His friends recall but one unfortunate incident—when his wig fell off and he was forced in haste from the town where he happened to be playing. Legend has it that one day the manager of the Hutchinson club, who was not a person of a suspicious disposition, watched an exhibition game by the Bloomer Girls and was deeply impressed by the work of the pitcher.

"See that girl showing up our fellows. If she could only grow a mustache to conceal her sex we would have a find," he lamented to his companion.

"Just keep him shaved and he will do as he is," was the answer.

Whether the Bloomer Girl legend is true or not, it is a matter of history that Joe joined the Hutchinson club, advanced to Kansas City and from there finished the season of 1908 with the Boston club, becoming a big leaguer before he was 19 years old.

THIS FIGHTER LIVES A CLEAN LIFE AND DOES NOT INDULGE IN LIQUOR.

WILLIE RITCHIE

San Francisco, Nov. 19.—Not since Battling Nelson and Jimmy Britt signed articles for their memorable battle at Colma, Cal., seven years ago have pugilistic circles been so deeply stirred over a battle involving the lightweight championship of the world as they are over the Willie Ritchie-Ad Wolgast contest, which is scheduled to take place in Daly City, Cal., just over the boundary line of San Francisco county, on Thanksgiving afternoon.

Ever sinc their four-round bout in San Francisco last spring, in which Ritchie easily bested the champion, there has been a demand for a return match over the long route, Ritchie never once getting off the champion's trail.

Ritchie's rise in the boxing world is little short of phenomenal. One year ago he was unknown outside of San Francisco. He was regarded in his home city as a dazzling parlor boxer, capable of beating the best of them over the four-round route, but not even his most enthusiastic admirers conceded that he would ever become a contender for the lightweight title. He had the footwork, the head and the boxing skill, but he failed to show a punch and there was a suspicion that he lacked heart. Since then he has shown the punch and the heart, completing all the fighting requisites that go to make a top-notch fighter.

Ritchie's first bid for fame came when he substituted for Ad Wolgast against Freddie Welsh in Los Angeles last Thanksgiving day. Taking the match on twenty-four hours' notice, traveling over night from San Francisco to Los Angeles and arriving at the arena two hours before the fight was scheduled to start, he stepped into the ring without even a rubdown and gave Welsh one of the hardest battles of his career. From that time he began to climb, Packey McFarland took him east and in seven weeks fought seven battles, winning each one. Upon his return to San Francisco he was matched to meet Wolgast in a four-round bout, this being Wolgast's first contest following an operation for appendicitis. In this bout Ritchie proved beyond all doubt that he is game. Floored twice in the third round, he came back in the fourth and beat Wolgast all over the ring, marking the champion up more than any other boxer had succeeded in doing.

Ritchie was idle for some time after this engagement, his next meeting being with Joe Mandot some months later. They fought ten rounds in New Orleans, Ritchie having Mandot on the floor and practically out when the final gong rang.

Ritchie, although rather large for a 133-pounder, is confident that he can make the weight without weakening himself, and with such an expert trainer as Billy Nolan, conceded to be the best conditioner in America, he believes that he will go into the ring with all of his strength.

The challenger never touches liquor or tobacco, always keeps himself in good shape and in all ways is a model boy, his one dissipation being candy, which, of coursh, he cuts out when training. He is a consistent and faithful trainer and lives up to all camp rules. Nolan has his own ideas about training and he invariably sends his men into the ring in fit condition.

Nolan is a great believer in the simple life, usually taking his charges to his ranch in northern California and compelling them to live as close to nature as possible. Nolan is a stickler for diet, selecting food with extreme care and preparing it "just so." Ritchie is a plain eater, so Nolan will have no trouble with him in this regard.

Ritchie will train in Marin county, Cal., across the bay from here, where the weather is warmer and the roads are better.

CROWD DIDN'T LIKE BOUT.

In speaking of the boxing bill in which Glen Coakley took part, a Pittsburg paper says:

"For bout No. 2 Glen Coakley, of Fort Wayne, Ind., faced Perry Young, of the north side. Coakley had a bunch of Braddock robbers in the hall to see him work. Young wanted to end the fight in half a minute and attacked furiously. Coakley took his time. In the second round Coakley began to fight harder and the scrap became livelier. Coakley defied many of Young's blows and bided his time to get in a heavy punch. Young tired from his own exertions and in the third round was in distress. Coakley's form didn't please the old bugs and they wanted more fight from him. His indifference cause hisses and jeers. Spurred on by these tactics the Hoosier put more ginger in his pace. Inspector Bartley took a hand and ordered the men out of the ring at the finish of the fourth round. The police official objected to the crowds' demonstrations of dissatisfaction."

FIRED THROUGH A DOOR.

Two Members of Wedding Party Shot by Serenaders.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 19.—Two members of a wedding party at Greenwood, Del., were shot by serenaders last night. Martin Willey, 42, will die. John Collins is in a serious condition. The serenaders numbered one hundred. Dozens of shots were fired.

After the marriage of Lottie Long and Homer Lynch, both of Greenwood, the couple held a reception. While this was in progress a crowd of serenaders kept up a din outside the house for an hour. Finally, when none of the wedding party appeared, someone in the crowd yelled "Shoot through the door." This was the signal for the dozens of shots. No arrests have been made.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Ragraw Lindstrom, 15 years old, a cripple was prevented from cutting his throat in the juvenile court yesterday by the prompt action of Albert Rush, a bailiff. Judge Pinckney had ordered the boy sent to the St. Charles school.

"Judge, give me one more chance and I'll be good," pleaded Lindstrom. "I am a cripple and haven't had the same chances as other boys." Judge Pinckney refused to parole the boy again, and while on the way to the room for delinquents, Lindstrom drew a large knife and attempted suicide.

BURKE FOR GRAND RAPIDS.

There is a report on the Central circuit that Jimmy Burke will be at the head of the Grand Rapids team of 1913.

FIRST DIVISION MANAGER ASKING

WHO IS THIS FELLOW?

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 19.—Announcement by A. W. Wagner, owner of the local baseball team, that a manager who led a first division team in the dozen-club circuit last season is seeking the management of the Tots for 1913 has caused a lot of speculation but the owner is just letting the fans speculate while he smiles and refuses to be interviewed.

Frank Shaughnessy cannot be considered because he announced after he won the flag at Fort Wayne last season that he was through and would not return but would take charge of his Ottawa club. Of course he may change his mind, but if he does he will be back at the helm for the champs.

Rumor has it that Bill Phillips will not manage the Youngstown team but he has not been an active participant in the game for some years, and although he knows the game thoroughly and has been successful as a rule, Central league owners are looking for playing managers.

Erle will continue in baseball and Billy Gilbert had such a good season there in 1912 that it is not likely he is looking for another place so it is not likely that he is the applicant in question. Charles ("Punch") Knoll has been released by Dayton, and it is not at all improbable that he would like to be chief of the Tot tribe next year and his application would be well worth considering as he is still a scrappy manager and if he can round to the form of two years ago he will fit nicely in the outfield.

Then there is Charley ("Hank") O'Day's transferred from Springfield to the Indianapolis club. He will likely be at the head of the Indianapolis farm at Springfield next year, and is not regarded as timber for the Terre Haute management.

Wheeling was the tail-end club in the first division and this opens up another possibility. Edward J. Anderson, manager and part owner of the club there, last season, lost some money and he may think it worth while to go back after it, hoping for a successful year in which he can recoup. He has no investment in the club as he was not able to meet the payments under which he made the purchase.

However, if he can get a place in the Central league, where he is sure of his salary right along, he might abandon the Wheeling proposition and go to Terre Haute. Here are the six managers of the first division clubs, and one of them is the man Mr. Wagner had in mind when he made his statement.

REFEREE CHOSEN FOR TITLE GO.

James Griffin, of San Francisco, to Be Third Man in Ring.

San Francisco, Nov. 19.—James Griffin, of this city, has been chosen to referee the Thanksgiving day fight here between Ad Wolgast and Willie Ritchie. The selection was made by Billy Nolan, representing Willie Ritchie; James Coffroth, representing the club under the auspices of which the fight will be given, and Tom Jones, representing Ad Wolgast.

It was learned after the conference opened that Jack Welsh, the San Francisco referee, who refereed the Wolgast-Rivers fight at Los Angeles, had been chosen tentatively and had refused.

Wolgast said he probably would not begin training until Sunday. Ritchie went through his first workout yesterday.

PUNTS AND PASSES.

Eichenlaub, Rockne and Berger have been ordered out of practice at Notre Dame on account of injuries, and may not be able to get back for the Thanksgiving game with Marquette. Eichenlaub is the star of the team.

Clair Fitzgerald, 18, is dead at Omaha as the result of injuries in a football game.

Page and Sauer, who watched the Gophers Saturday in the interest of the Maroons, brought back to Chicago a long list of plays for Coach Stagg to drill his men in.

Illinois will resume practice tomorrow for the game on Saturday with Northwestern. It is hoped that the rest will enable Sennef to get back in the game.

Rules forbid the playing of post-season games by conference teams and Wisconsin will not get a chance at Harvard.

Lieut. Henry Weeks, all-American tackle, while at West Point, has returned to Bloomington to coach the line in preparation for the season's final card with Purdue next Saturday. He took charge of the beefy part of the crew while Head Coach Sheldon worked with the backs.

New plays are being tried out by the Purdue varsity eleven and they completely bewildered the freshmen. The plays are the inventions of the three coaches, Moll, Dunlap and Vaughan, and they are calculated to fool Indiana Saturday.

RETIRING JUDGE HIGHLY HONORED

Allen County Bar Presents Testimonial to Judge Edward O'Rourke.

A BIG GATHERING

At a meeting attended by all of the members of the Allen County Bar association Judge Edward O'Rourke was today presented with a glowing tribute to his long and faithful service in the circuit court and the recipient was deeply touched as one after another the attorneys who had been associated with him during his honorable career took occasion to express their appreciation of his talent as a jurist and unswerving fidelity as a judge.

Most of the speakers dwelt upon special instances setting out the courage with which the judge ignored public clamor and did what he conceived to be his duty under the most trying conditions. Most of the forenoon was consumed in the meeting at which President William P. Breen occupied the chair.

When the judge attempted to express his appreciation his voice faltered and at times he was hardly able to speak.

The Testimonial.

The following testimonial, signed by Hon. James M. Barrett, Judge Walter Olds, Judge Samuel M. Hench, James B. Harper, Edward G. Hoffman and Charles M. Niezer, was presented by Mr. Barrett, as chairman of the committee:

Judge Edward O'Rourke has served the people as judge of the Allen circuit court with distinguished credit to himself and with great satisfaction to the people for a period of thirty-six consecutive years. Few men have had a longer term of public service or a more conspicuous or honorable career. In his judicial capacity he never suffered himself to be swerved by friendship for party or counsel, by popular clamor or by partisan feeling. He quietly and unostentatiously pursued the path of judicial propriety and duty as he saw it. His mind is judicial in character—a mind that is fair, just and discriminating. His resolute purpose and firmness in upholding the dignity of the court, in protecting the rights of parties litigant and in administrating justice may sometimes have made him the object of criticism by defeated litigants (to which all judges are subject,) but such criticism never turned him from the path of duty. His only motive and his highest ambition was the discharge of his judicial duties fairly and uprightly. His decisions were founded upon justice and equity and when appealed from were generally affirmed. With the mere technicalities of the law he had little patience.

As a judge he watched with careful guardianship the estates of decedents and minors in this county for more than a third of a century. His deep sense of humanity, his qualities of mercy, his words of kindness, hope and helpfulness have saved many an erring youth from prison walls and guided his energies into ways of usefulness and honor.

He has been a capable, honorable and upright judge and throughout his long career on the bench and notwithstanding the bitterness of fierce legal conflicts before him, no calumny, no breath of suspicion even has ever stained his judicial career.

Now at the close of a long and useful term on the bench he is about to assume again the active duties of a lawyer. As an honorable man and just jurist he has commanded the profound respect not only of the members of this bar but of all the people of this community.

It has been said that man is prone to defer just commendation and to withhold expressions laudatory of his fellow-man until he has passed beyond the reach of approbation; but in these days of much unjust and carping criticism of public officials, it is a genuine pleasure to the members of this bar to give this expression of a just and faithful estimate of the services of a worthy public servant.

Judge O'Rourke has proven himself worthy of the public trust so long and so generously conferred upon him by the free choice of a free people. Although his election for six successive terms covering a period of thirty-six consecutive years best attests the universal regard and high esteem in which he has been and still is held by men of all shades of political faith; yet it is appropriate that the members of the Allen County bar give their testimony of his wisdom, his fairness, his unquestioned integrity and impartiality and his character as an upright judge.

Therefore, Be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Allen County bar, hereby express to Judge Edward O'Rourke our appreciation of his long, distinguished and useful public services as Judge of the Allen county circuit court, and hereby tender to him our tribute of respect and admiration, with our sincere good wishes for many years of usefulness and success as a member of this bar.

Resolved, That a copy of this testimonial be presented to Judge Edward O'Rourke and also to the Allen circuit court with the request that the same be made a matter of record in said court.

Mme. D'Mille's Beauty Hints

(From the Journal of Fashion.)

"To keep the skin clear, smooth, fair and white use a complexion beautifier made by dissolving a package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. Gently massage face, neck and arms with this in the morning and it will hold all day. It prevents the growth of hair and will not rub off or show like powder, while it gives a lovely, soft and youthful complexion.

"To make thin, short eyelashes grow in long, thick and silky, apply plain pyroxin to the lash roots with thumb and forefinger. Applying pyroxin to straggly eyebrows will make them long, silky and darker in color.

"For cold in the head or chest there is nothing better than Mother's Salve. It is easy to use and quick to act. Catarrh is a beauty destroyer, and Mother's Salve will relieve catarrh if anything will.

"Dull and lifeless hair makes a woman look older than she should. Dry shampooing makes the hair bright, fluffy and clean. Put four ounces of orris root in a fruit jar and mix it well with an original package of therox. Sprinkle a little on the head once a week and brush out thoroughly. This treatment cleanses the scalp and makes the hair lustrous and wavy.

"Superfluous hairs are humiliating, and for those who desire a hair remover, delatone is suggested. Make a paste with a little delatone and water, cover the hairs; after a minute or two wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone. This treatment is sure, safe and speedy."

OFFICE STAFF COMPLETE.

E. F. Menze, of Chicago, formerly of the traffic department of the Chicago and Alton railroad, has accepted a position with the Fort Wayne Traffic association, of the Commercial club, and started his new duties this morning. Mr. Menze's coming completes the office force in the local institution.

MISS CLEVELAND OUT IN SOCIETY

"White House Baby" Makes Her Formal Bow to Society.

IS BRILLIANT EVENT

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 19.—Miss Esther Cleveland, eldest daughter of the late president and Mrs. Grover Cleveland, was formerly presented to Princeton society at a reception given by Mrs. Cleveland at Westland, the family residence, yesterday afternoon. The tea was followed by a dance in the evening for the younger set. Considerably over 1,000 invitations were sent out and it is estimated more than half that number of guests were present.

In addition to the members of the university faculty and the city leaders of the town, numbering almost four hundred, the list of those present included a large number from New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Newark, Trenton, Morristown and other New Jersey towns, in all of which cities Mrs. Cleveland has a wide acquaintance.

Mrs. Cleveland Receives Guests.

Mrs. Cleveland, with her mother, Mrs. Perrine, and her daughter, received the guests, and the following ladies presided in the dining room: Mrs. John Grier Hibben, wife of the president of the university; Mrs. Francis L. Patton, wife of the president of the Princeton Theological seminary; Mrs. Moses Taylor Pyne, Mrs. A. D. Russell, Mrs. Allen Marquard, Mrs. Janius S. Morgan, Mrs. D. S. Lamont, Mrs. George B. McClellan, wife of the former mayor of New York; Mrs. Augustus Trowbridge, Mrs. John H. Finley, Mrs. W. F. Magie, Mrs. Howard McClenahan, Mrs. Jesse Lynch Williams, Mrs. A. H. Phillips, Mrs. W. B. Scott, and Mrs. W. B. Bradford.

Assisting Miss Cleveland in receiving were Miss Frances Perin, of Cincinnati; Miss Frances Hoar, of Washington; Miss Sarah Morgan, of Princeton; Miss Josephine Osborn, of New York; Miss Rachel Latta, of Philadelphia, Miss Florence Colgate, of New York, Miss Charlotte Droste, of Mont Clair; Miss Ellen Finley, of New York; Miss Margaret Bissell, of Morristown, and Miss Ruth Cushman, of New York.

Gowns Worn by Hostesses.

Mrs. Cleveland's gown was of white brocaded crepe de chine, embroidered with crystals and in the evening she wore a gown of corn colored velvet. Miss Cleveland wore a gown of white chiffon trimmed with silver in the afternoon and in the evening a gown of blue chiffon with pearls.

Miss Cleveland, who is known as the "baby of the white house," is 19 years of age, having been born in the executive mansion during her father's second administration.

JAMES TURNER IS DEAD.

Former Fort Wayne Man Dies at His Home in Iowa.

Asa Turner, of this city, has been informed of the death of his brother, James Turner, which occurred Saturday at his home in Carroll, Ia. Mr. Turner was born in Maryland February 8, 1825, and was 87 years of age. In 1833 he came with his parents to Allen county, and in 1870 was married to Catherine Kelly. Several years ago he located in Iowa. Surviving besides the widow, and brother who lives here, he leaves one sister, Mrs. Adeline Stitts, of Stockton, Cal.

CITY REALTY IS HIGH.

No Meeting of New Commercial Club Committee This Week.

According to members of the site committee of the Commercial club, whose duty it is to select a suitable location for the proposed new club building, down town real estate is "sky high." The committee has been quietly working for some weeks, and finds that any suitable site in the business district is valued extremely high.

Announcement was made that the committee would meet this week, but it is understood the session has been postponed. As a matter of fact, the new club project is seriously delayed on account of the unsatisfactory conditions found by the site committee in trying to make a selection.

ATTEMPTED TO DRUG THEM.

Woman Badly Frightened By a Man Who Entered Collis Home.

Mrs. Ruth Zigler, who was seriously frightened last night when a man entered the home of John Collis, at which she was spending the night, is suffering today from the shock following the discovery of the prowler.

She and Mrs. Collis were alone in the house at Brooklyn avenue and Taylor street, as both their husbands are employed in the rolling mills at night and both believe an attempt was made to drug them. The man pried open a window and Mrs. Collis caught him and attempted to hold him, but he escaped. The police have been unable to locate him.

VINCENNES MAN IS SUICIDE.

Ferdinand Beard, Son of Prominent Doctor, Shoots Himself.

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 19.—Ferdinand Beard, 23 years old, son of Dr. Schuyler C. Beard, shot and killed himself last evening at the Kaiserhoff hotel, where he acted as day clerk. It is alleged he had been drinking.

TO INITIATE 1,000.

The Fort Wayne herd of Buffaloes is planning to initiate a class of 1,000 candidates on Dec. 15, and the indications at present are that the desired number will be obtained as the list of members continues to grow rapidly. All of the initiation fees will be devoted to a fund for the building of a home for aged and feeble Buffaloes to be built in this city.

GIRLS KILLED AT DELPHOS

Carrie and Anna Hartings Struck by the Manhattan Limited Train.

THE NICKEL PLATE ADVANCES 18 FIREMEN

Getting Ready for Additional Trains Needed in Winter.

Carrie and Anna Hartings, aged 16 and 20 years, respectively, daughters of J. P. Hartings, of Chickasaw, Ohio, were struck and instantly killed by the Pennsylvania Manhattan limited, No. 22, at Delphos, at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The girls were employed as domestics in Delphos and had been out to their father's home to spend Sunday and were en route to their respective places of employment when the accident happened. They were walking north on the east side of Jefferson street, and approached the crossing just as westbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 9 was passing. The noise of the train passing the crossing prevented them from noticing the approach of No. 22, the eastbound fast train known as the Manhattan Limited. Just as they stepped onto the eastbound track they were struck by the locomotive of the rapidly moving train and hurled a distance of 100 feet, one of them striking a signal stand just south of the eastbound track and the other landing on the ground between the eastbound track and a siding. No watchman is stationed at the Jefferson street crossing and no crossing gates are operated there. While the crossing bell was ringing, the girls thought the alarm was being sounded for the westbound train and consequently failed to notice the oncoming fast train. Engineer W. D. Scott, one of the most careful and competent engineers on the Pennsylvania pay rolls, was at the throttle of the engine which pulled the Manhattan limited and he made an ineffectual attempt to attract attention of the girls and to stop the train.

UP FOR PROMOTION.

Nickel Plate About to Advance Eighteen Men.

Eighteen firemen received final examination today for advancement and they are now qualified to take their places at the throttle whenever the necessity arises, which will be as soon as snow and cold weather comes, if the present volume of business continues. The personnel of the class is as follows: E. J. Chavanne, H. M. Grubb, A. E. Ocker, F. B. Kocks, B. Z. Foster, L. M. Chaney, E. J. Barry, L. G. Lee, L. Koers and E. M. Doty, of the Third district, between Bellevue and Fort Wayne; C. Bonta, F. W. Leidolf, H. Carlson, G. Buchert, G. H. Welch, E. A. Worman, E. R. Helsel and J. E. Beach, of the Fourth division, between Fort Wayne and Chicago. This is the largest class of firemen to be advanced at one time on the Nickel Plate for several years.

THE WABASH WAGE QUESTION.

Representatives of Shopmen at Work on It.

The present wage agreement between the Wabash officials and the shop employes expires December 1 and representatives of the employes are engaged in making an agreement covering the year 1913. Today a conference of representatives of the various crafts are holding a meeting in Danville and those in attendance from Fort Wayne are Frank J. Schwarz, of the pipefitters; Ed Siebold, of the boilermakers; Dan Tressler, of the blacksmiths, and Wentz Gabriel, of the boilermakers. No trouble in reaching an agreement with the officials is apprehended.

CAME IN SPECIAL CAR.

Paymaster Francisco Adopts New Method of Travel.

George E. Francisco, Wabash paymaster, whose equipment on former trips over the Wabash consisted of a grip filled with pay roll sheets and checks, came into Fort Wayne in a more dignified manner today. He has a private car and a special train and all employes were required to appear there for their wages. The old system of paying in checks prevailed, however. It was reported that cash would be handed out from the pay car, but this was an error. Mr. Francisco came in at 10:20 and left about 2 o'clock.

BOWSER WORKS DISABLED.

Smokestack Fan Smashed and Stopped Operatives.

Operations at the plant of S. F. Bowser & Company were suspended today owing to an accident to the machinery in the power plant. The big fan in the smokestack which creates draft for the stoker operated furnaces under the boilers broke and it was impossible to keep up steam so a shutdown for repairs was made. The works will be in operation tomorrow as usual. The damage was not costly.

EXPECTS IMPROVEMENTS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

With the change of administration in the Pennsylvania Railroad company it is expected that projected improvements in this vicinity will be accelerated rather than retarded. The Cresson & Clearfield division is to receive the benefit of a large appropriation soon, and the result is expected to be the addition of facilities which will make that portion of the Pennsylvania system one of the busiest branches in the state. At Derry many improvements are expected, including a new station. Work on the proposed improvements in Johnstown hinges largely on the action of city councils with reference to ordinances desired by the railroad company.

WILL ENTERTAIN MEMBERS.

Charles Brenner, president of the Fort Wayne Electric Works' Benefit association, has arranged for an entertainment for the 500 members on Thursday evening, December 5. One feature of the entertainment will be a moving picture show with apparatus owned by Frank G. Heller, who was in the motion picture business at Monroeville for several months. The balance of the program has not yet been worked out. Mr. Brenner appointed the following to serve as a committee of arrangements: F. G. Heller, chairman; Tony Miller and S. A. Bickel. The entertainment will be given in the assembly hall at the works.

TO SOON HAVE NEW OFFICE.

General Foreman H. T. Hogan, Assistant Foreman A. S. Courtney, with their assistants and clerks, will soon have a more commodious and convenient first floor office. Carpenters are now engaged in erecting a frame building just west of the main machine shop for this purpose and will finish it next week. The new building will be 14x32 feet in dimensions. When it is ready for occupancy the entire main shop building will then be occupied by machinery.

ENGINE DERAILED AT GRAYBILL.

As the engine pulling eastbound Wabash fast freight train No. 90 attempted to back the train at Graybill last evening, a drawbar dropped to the tracks and derailed the wheels. The accident blocked the tracks awhile and eastbound passenger train No. 4 and westbound passenger train No. 3 were delayed several minutes. Nobody was injured.

ANOTHER SUPERHEATER ENGINE

The Nickel Plate has placed another superheater equipped engine in service. It is the No. 123, which arrived from the Conneaut shops yesterday, practically a new engine. It will pull passenger trains Nos. 1 and 4 between this city and Bellevue. Freight engine 409, just repaired in the Stony Island shops, was also received here yesterday and has taken her place in the service on the Fourth division.

ELECTRO-TECHNIC LECTURE.

The second in the 1912-1913 series of lectures to be given by the Electro-Technic club will be given in the assembly room at the Fort Wayne Electric works this evening. The speaker will be Prof. Frank B. Wade, of the Shortridge high school, of Indianapolis, and his subject will be "Precious Stones."

LABEL LEAGUE ENTERTAINMENT.

The members of the Woman's Union Label league and friends will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles Krider, of 216 Wallace street, tomorrow afternoon. Pedro will furnish the entertainment and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Charles Salzgruber, a member of the league, will assist Mrs. Krider in entertaining the guests.

CONTRACTOR MILLER LEAVES CITY

Contractor Miller, who has some important cement work contracts at Huntington, has decided that it would be more convenient to reside in that city than in Fort Wayne, and he is moving his family there. Mr. Miller is the father of Machinist Melvin Miller, of the Pennsylvania shops.

OUT ON TRACK INSPECTION.

TO STAY MONTH IN TEXAS.

Machinist J. A. Carpenter, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, has obtained a month's leave of absence and is now en route to Houston, Texas. He has a number of relatives and friends in that part of the Lone Star state whom he will visit.

CALLED TO MOTHER'S FUNERAL.

Charles Limbert, a coremaker at the Bass foundry, was summoned to Wapakoneta, O., Saturday by news of the death of his mother, which came as a surprise, as he had not been previously informed that she was seriously ill.

MR. SCHEID RESUMES WORK.

Peter J. Scheid, who was taken seriously ill in the shops a week ago, was able to resume charge of the Pennsylvania car machine shop yesterday. He suffered a similar attack four or five months ago.

WILL ENTERTAIN AUXILIARY.

Kekionga division, Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors, will be entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. D. S. Ebert, of 2126 Force street. Mrs. Wells will be the assistant hostess.

J. G. Roper, springmaker at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, fell against some redhot pieces of iron yesterday and burned his side. The injury is not serious, but it will keep Mr. Roper from his work for a few days.

J. N. Kennelly, operator of the elevator in the Pennsylvania copper and tin shop building, resumed that work this morning. Two weeks ago he had one of his heels crushed between the elevator and the shop floor.

Herman Miller, clerk at the Wabash freight office, has returned from a hunting expedition in the woods near Napoleon, Ohio. He was not accompanied by game of any kind on his return and it is presumed the hunt was a failure.

Nickel Plate Engineer F. E. Fagan has reported for duty after being disabled two weeks by an injury. In crossing the railway yards he stepped upon the ragged edge of a broken lantern globe and the glass lacerated his foot badly.

Mrs. O'Conner, wife of Machinist W. F. O'Conner, of the Pennsylvania shops, suffered a severe attack of heart disease last night. She fell and sustained a fracture of the bones of one of her wrists three or four weeks ago and it is believed that her recent illness is the result of that accident. She is much better today and speedy and complete recovery is expected.

FIND SAFE BLOWERS' MASKS.

Deputy Sheriffs Trail Medaryville Bank Robbers to Michigan City.

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 19.—Deputy sheriffs of this county today were trailing the five men who blew the safe of the Medaryville bank last Thursday morning and escaped with $1,000, but were unable to locate the robbers. The officers found that the men went north on a Monon hand car to Wilders, where they dumped the hand car in the river and probably went from Wilders to Otis on a freight train. Five strangers were seen in Otis on the day of the robbery. They started northward across the fields and presumably came from this city, as the officers today found in a vacant house two miles south of here a polka dot handkerchief with diagonal corners tied and a half of a handkerchief with a string attached to fit the back of the head, which fitted the half of a handkerchief that was found at Medaryville on the morning of the robbery. The police of this city are searching for other clews.

Henri Bouchoux, descendant of a medieval French family and member of a big automobile firm in New York is the man.

About twelve months ago Miss Armstrong was a member of "The Pink Lady" company when it was playing at the Amsterdam theater in New York. It was then that she met Bouchoux.

To escape Bouchoux's attentions Miss Armstrong went with the "Pink Lady" company to London. Bouchoux did not know her whereabouts until she was gone from New York six weeks. Then he cabled to London that he was going over on the next steamer and would marry her there if she would consent.

When Miss Armstrong got the cablegram she decided to hurry back to London and take the next steamer for New York to avoid meeting the determined Bouchoux. In her hurry to get back to London she was hurt in a taxicab, which dashed into a fence. The accident laid her up for a week, but she managed to escape meeting Bouchoux by sailing on the Mauritania. The Mauritania in midocean passed the La Franz, on which Bouchoux had booked passage to London.

Arriving in New York Miss Armstrong joined "The Fascinating Widow" company, learning that it was coming to San Francisco. Bouchoux sailed back to New York on the next steamer, when he learned that she had left London. After weeks of inquiry he found out that Miss Armstrong had come to San Francisco.

Still undaunted, he pursued the runaway show girls across the continent, where he finally found her.

"We are to be married in the little Church Around the Corner on Christmas eve," said Miss Armstrong yesterday. "Mr. Bouchoux has convinced me that his family is reconciled to our wedding, and I shall leave for New York in a day or two to arrange with them for the ceremony."

"Bouchoux is 24 years old and Miss Armstrong was 20 on her last birthday.

Cold Weather Helps for Hair and Skin

The "free" alkali in shampoos will cause hair to grow dull and lifeless, split at ends and fall out, and until hurtful soaps or mixtures are discontinued, there can be no relief. A very fine shampoo-mixture can be made by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water. This should be poured on the head slowly and rubbed up well and it will create an abundance of white, creamy lather. After a canthrox shampoo the hair dries evenly and quickly, while the scalp is left clean, pliant and healthy. It is not necessary to shampoo every week when canthrox is employed, because its effects are quick and lasting. Continued using of canthrox insures a clean, healthy scalp and an abundance of rich, glossy, attractive hair, easy to do up and of an evenness in color.

Men have always been attracted and held by woman's beauty. To get rid of a shiny, greasy, muddy look to the skin, go to the drug store and get four ounces of spurmax, dissolve it in one-half pint witch hazel (or hot water), and add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply this to the face, neck and arms, rubbing gently until dry. It will clear up and whiten the skin and give to it that charm of youthful freshness so much envied by all women. This lotion does not show or rub off like powder and is much better. It is splendid for removing freckles, pimples and sallowness of the skin.

ENDURING styles in furniture.

When you buy a piece of furniture you are justified in asking yourself: "Will it be in style five or ten years from now? Or will it, like the old horsehair sofa, be put away, out of sight somewhere?"

You need not be troubled by such questions when you buy Berkey & Gay furniture. It will always be in style. It is made in styles that have become permanently established. Sheraton and Chippendale were to furniture what Gainsborough and Landseer were to painting, in England. Their work is classic. Other fashions in furniture may come and go, but the patterns that were evolved by Sheraton and Chippendale will always be accepted as representing faultless style and taste.

Berkey & Gay make Sheraton and Chippendale furniture that has all the elegance, durability, beauty and class of the original pieces produced by those masters of their art. Late Louis XVI, Flemish Rennaisance and Colonial are other styles that Berkey & Gay have adopted in furniture-making. The enduring quality of these styles has been thoroughly established. Hence you have the assurance when you buy a Berkey & Gay piece that you will never have to put it aside as a thing that has ceased to be fashionable.

We have the exclusive sale of Berkey & Gay furniture here. Come in and see the sets and pieces we are offering. Including Berkey & Gay furniture we have these attractive exhibits:

Full line of Globe-Wernicke Unit Bookcases, of which we have the sole Fort Wayne agency.

Full line of McDougall Kitchen Cabinets, also of which we have the sole Fort Wayne agency.

Full line of Allwin Go-Carts—worth two of any other make—of which we have the sole Fort Wayne agency.

Full line of Jewel Base Burners and Jewel Steel Ranges—four million of them in use—of which we also have the sole Fort Wayne agency.

Being the leading Furniture House of the State of Indiana, we have the finest choice of everything.

We have in stock the Berkey & Gay suit shown above, made of Mahogany but finished in "Wedgewood," requiring sixteen coats in its preparation. It is sold but will remain on exhibition a few days before being delivered.

CHRISTIAN OR TURK—GOD HELP COMMON PEOPLE IN WAR!

First Photograph Showing Turkish Flight from Homes Ravaged by Battle.

The Sentinel presents today this first photograph to reach Fort Wayne in which the Turkish flight from homes ravaged by shot and shell and torch is shown.

This photograph is a classic. The artist who could have painted it from his imagination would have found himself famous. He might have labeled it "War."

But artists, like other people, both great and small, think that war has to do only with maps, and plans, and tactics, and bodies of troops and glorious combat. They don't stop to think that the common folks on both sides are the basis of all war, just as they are the foundation of every other enterprise in the known world. In war it is not the great and the rich who suffer. Their suffering, as well as their fighting, is done for them by the common folks.

But if the artist were true to life, if he had caught the real spirit of the war, as the camera has caught it in this wonderful photograph, he would hot have thought the mud and water a little exaggerated; but as it is here, ankle deep. He would have thought of the wagon, containing the little household effects of these Turkish humans who are fleeing towards Constantinople, from burning homes to expected safety from the victor.

He would certainly have thought of showing the mercilessness of war by painting two babies sitting in the wagon, as this camera shows they really were. He would have put the bent, tired old man at the head of the oxen, with his hesitating wife and daughters trudging in front through the mire, and he would have hidden the suffering on the women's faces with the shrouds all Turkish women must wear.

This human artist would have put in the big, strong boy who rather liked the mud and the poor little boy whose face showed the near approach of tears. Oh, yes, if our human artist had done this he would have been very human and very exact, too, just as the camera is.

Over these plains of Thrace, for five days, plodded, ran, stumbled, fell, starved, raved and died old men, women and children, and Turkish fighting men who had been torn from their homes, at the word of Turkey's rulers, to fight—for what?

Cheer for the Bulgars if you wish, but don't forget that the Turks are human people—their children human children like your children.

God help us all when war comes our way!

MENTHO-LAXENE TOO GOOD

Druggists Think So Because One Bottle, Which Makes a Pint, Lasts a Family All Season and Cures Every Cold, Cough and Catarrh Victim Quickly.

Better Get the Pure Essence Mentho-Laxene — Save Money and Health.

This is for the reader who knows the value of every five-cent piece, and usually it saves from 40 to 100 five-cent pieces for those who are informed. Buying medicine in dribs costs more than making a big supply yourself. Buying ordinary patent medicines means that you pay too much for syrups, corks, bottles, labels, cartons, etc. For instance, if you buy a 25-cent bottle of cough medicine, it contains about two ounces, four-fifths of which is syrup—and for 25 cents you can make one-half gallon of syrup.

By making Mentho-Laxene medicine at home you save lots of money on syrup alone, and besides you know it's pure and quickly effective. Let us prove then that the best and cheapest way to cure coughs, colds, catarrh, and to prevent pneumonia, diphtheria, la grippe, is to make this fine big supply of medicine by mixing one-half pint of boiling water with a pint of granulated sugar. Then, buy the pure concentrated essence Mentho-Laxene (a 2½ oz. bottle) empty it into a pint bottle or jar and fill it up with the syrup. Directions with each bottle tells how to make and take, while the manufacturers guarantee to refund money to any dissatisfied purchaser. You run no risk and will have on hand a medicine which has never been equalled for colds, coughs, bronchitis, catarrh, hoarseness, etc. Its tonic laxative action puts the entire system on a healthy basis and chronic disease and consumption are avoided.—Adv.

DOES MAN'S WORK ON WHALER; LIVES ON CANNED FOOD AND CANNED MUSIC

For Year and a Half Viking's Daughter Sailed the Arctic Seas in Her Father's Whaling Vessel.

AUDHILD SVERDRUP.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 19.—If you would interview the viking's daughter, you must catch her between shopping trips. For the viking and his daughter have just returned from the whaling station at Akutan, and the latter is making up for lost time.

When you are on a whaling steamer you wear rubber boots and oilskins, and matters of the wardrobe are not considered important. The coiffure is an inconsequent trifle. And there are no manicurists on whaling ships.

It is not strange, then, that when the viking's daughter returns to civilization and the land of stores and shops she should make the most of her opportunities and linger long over lingerie and ribbons and laces and all the thousand and one pretty and costly trifles that delight the heart of woman, even the heart of a viking's daughter who slays whales.

The viking is Capt. Sverdrup, who discovered the magnetic pole, built the Farm, of south pole fame, and accompanied Asmundsen on his trip through the northwest passage.

His daughter is Miss Audhild Sverdrup, who for six months did a man's work aboard her father's ship with only sailormen for company, and the nearest woman Indian women ashore.

She is 19. Her eyes are blue. Her cheeks are pink. Her hair is light brown. These are statements of fact.

Her English is charmingly precise. She was not "lone-lee" on the ship because she worked hard and found everything "ver-ee interest-ing." They fed their bodies on canned food and their souls on canned music.

Therefore the viking's daughter finds double pleasure in dainty food, napkins and finger bowls and music that is not canned.

The thing the viking's daughter hankered for most when at the station was a crisp, fresh lettuce salad. Such a salad is, it seems to her, the very antithesis of the "hor-rob-bell od-or of the whale." She eats salad three times a day.

Originally Capt. Sverdrup and his daughter came from Christiana. Born to the sea, the captain abhors life ashore and his daughter takes after him.

MARQUIS' SON JERKS TRUNKS.

"Too Proud to Beg," Titled Youth Works as Porter.

London, Nov. 19.—His grace the duke of Sutherland, while in New York a short time ago, was surprised to recognize in the porter who carried his baggage up to his room a former varsity chum, the son of a marquis, who was at one time a figure in the sporting world. The young man had lost all his money in speculation and, too proud to ask his father to help him, had turned his hand to portering.

Mrs. T. A. Town, 107 6th St., Watertown, S. D., writes: "My four children are subject to hard colds and I ayways use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound with splendid results. Some time ago I had a severe attack of la grippe and the doctor prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it soon overcame the la grippe. I can always depend upon Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and am sure of good results. For all coughs and colds in children and grown persons, and for chronic coughs of elderly people. COW GRABS GOLF BALL.

Runs With Pellet Three Times When Woman Drives It.

London, Nov. 19.—A pretty golf story comes from Scotland. Mrs. Barnett, an American, living at North Berwick, while playing on the old course, had her game considerably interfered with by a persistently inquisitive cow.

Mrs. Barnett had just made a tee shot when the cow seized the ball, and, after flying with it for some distance, dropped it. The player made two other shots, and the cow, to her amazement, twice returned and lifted the ball after she had played it.

COULD NOT STAND TO BE A WIDOWER

Hunts Another Wife as Soon as One is Beneath the Sod.

MAKES A HABIT OF IT

New York, Nov. 19.—Old Sam Curtis of Brooklyn gets all-fired blue and lonesome if he isn't married. Samuel is 82, and he got in the habit of being a married man away back yonder before Abe Lincoln ever thought of running for president.

Here is one thing old Sam just can't stand, and that is being a widower. He believes, of course, in waiting until after the funeral of a dead wife before courting a new one, but as soon as the minister says "Dust unto dust," at the cemetery, old Sam is out on the carpet again looking for a new bride to console his heart-bowed down.

Old Sam buried a wife the other day, and before he got back home from the funeral he was engaged to Mrs. Mary McGowan. As a hurry-up fire alarm, get-there-quick lover, old Sam has Romeo backed off the board. He and Mrs. McGowan will be married soon.

In his long experience with wives Samuel has had three, and has come to the conclusion that one of them is a durned handy thing to have around the house.

The last Mrs. Curtis was named Amelia. Old Sam was fond of her, and was real cut up when she died. Samuel sat around the house and saw the funeral preparations going on till he got about as miserable and blue as he ever was in his life. Then Samuel went to the Widow McGowan and asked her if she would be the fourth Mrs. Curtis, and the widow said she would. So they will be married.

JUST A PLAIN, HUMAN AMERICAN FAMILY ARE THE WILSONS—SOME HOMEY INCIDENTS IN THE WILSON HOME.

By Oliver P. Newman.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 18.—Did you ever live in a small town? If you did, or do, you know what I mean about good, wholesome neighbors, who would sit up nights when you had sickness in the family, run in hurriedly at 6 o'clock in the evening to borrow an extra half dozen spoons for unexpected company and in other ways conduct themselves as plain, unassuming, democratic, sympathetic folks.

Well, that's the kind of folks the Woodrow Wilson family are. They are a typical American household—no snobbishness, no pretense, no "airs."

The morning after election, as the ice man dropped off his wagon to deliver ice to the Wilson bungalow, Miss Jessie Wilson happened to throw open the window of a second story room.

"Congratulations! Congratulations!" cried the ice man, waving his cap.

"Wasn't it fine?" called back Miss Jessie. She and the ice man are old friends.

In the excitement of the election, the fact that the people have chosen a president out of that kind of a home has been overlooked. It ought not to be. It shows that Woodrow Wilson is a typical American. He knows the life of the average American because he has lived it.

"I know the pinch of the high cost of living," he said in one of his campaign speeches, "because in my family we have to practice the little economies of every day existence in order to make both ends meet."

And so, while democrats have been jollifying and shrieking their heads off from one end of the country to the other over the great victory, the chief figure in it all has been counting his pennies to figure out how he and his family are going to meet the increased personal expenses that have been laid upon him.

You have probably heard that Wilson is to stay on as governor of New Jersey until March 4, and that it is because he wants to complete the reforms started under him. That is one reason, but there is another; he cannot afford to resign.

President-elect Wilson does not even own his little home in Princeton. He lives in a rented house. Except for a few thousand dollars he saved as president of Princeton, he has no wealth or property. And he lives, not in one of the magnificent houses with spacious grounds of which there are so many in the university town, but in a bungalow, on an unpaved road in the edge of the village—Cleveland lane, which has a sidewalk only on one side, which reveals six inches of mud when it rains and which is very badly lighted at night.

An incident that shows the plain Americanism of the Wilson family was the governor's departure on his first campaign trip in a private car. He was to go by automobile to Trenton, where he would board the car.

Did you ever take a long railroad journey? If not, did you ever gaze wonderingly at a private car on the rear end of a train, and try to think how it would feel to travel in it?

Of course you have. Everybody feels that the very acme of extravagant luxury would be to experience the delicious thrill of using a private car. The Wilson family felt that thrill the day Governor Wilson started for Trenton. The governor felt it himself, because he had never had a private car before. Consequently, the whole Wilson family, including old black Sam, the governor's messenger, helped Governor Wilson depart, and all were in a flutter of excitement.

"Be careful, father," called one daughter.

"Take care of yourself," cried another.

"You'll need your overcoat," cautioned Mrs. Wilson.

"I know you'll have a splendid time," said everybody.

"Goodby, goodby, all," called Governor Wilson, as the automobile started. "Hope you get along all right while I'm gone."

"We will," shrieked the family.

The fact that "father" was going away for a week's trip in a private car was an event in the Wilson family. It brought forth exactly what it would have brought forth in any other plain American household.

OPPOSITION TO SPOILS SYSTEM

Likely to Develop in Selection of the New Postmasters.

TALK OF PRIMARIES

Washington, Nov 19.—Louis Ludlow has sent the following to his newspaper, the Indianapolis Star:

A storm is brewing in the democratic party over the suggestion that the primary system be adapted to the selection of postmasters under the Wilson administration. The report has become widely circulated that President-elect Wilson, who is a stickler for primaries and an opponent of the spoils system, favors the selection of presidential postmasters by primaries in which the voters shall be the democratic patrons of each office.

Nobody in authority to speak for the president-elect pretends to know exactly what his views are as to the manner in which these offices shall be filled, but he is one of the vice presidents of the National Civil Service Reform League and in a speech at New Haven last spring he said that it was patronage that kept the political machines alive and that the way to starve out the machines was to take away their patronage.

Wilson Can Adopt System.

As president he would have the power to put the primary system into general effect in the selection of postmasters. It is only a custom which imposes upon him the duty of honoring recommendations for postmasters made by members of congress. He can abolish that custom in the twinkling of an eye and substitute for it the requirement that candidates for postmasterships must be honored by a plurality of the patrons of each office, the choice being determined in a primary.

In widely separated sections of the country an agitation is starting in favor of the primary as the means of settling postoffice contests. This innovation is violently opposed by democrats of the old school, who believe that "to the victors belong the spoils," and a vey fine row promises to be the result.

No Guard Against Frauds.

Among the objections he raises to the primary system as applied to postmasters are that there is no way to guard the primaries against fraud and no means of paying the cost of such primaries.

It is pointed out by opponents of primaries that in a community there might be one reactionary democrat of the Harmon type and half a dozen progressive democrats who wanted the postoffice. The progressives would divide the progressive vote and the reactionary would be elected.

Representative Cullop of Indiana is the author of a proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States, which will attract a great deal of attention in this connection. It is now pending in the house of representatives awaiting action. It provides that the constitution shall be changed so as to require postmasters to be elected by the qualified electors of the communities they are to serve, regardless of politics.

Auto Is Big Factor.

That the automobile is a great agency for political promotion in Indiana is shown by the reports of candidates for congress under the federal corrupt practices act. "Gasoline," "oil" and "repairs" are frequently enumerated among the items of expenditures. Joseph Amis, progressive candidate in the Fifth district, states that the expenses of running and making repairs of his own automobile were so mixed with other items in his personal account that he could not separate them.

Edward C. Tone, the bull moose candidate in the Eighth district, states that he spent $1,101.59 in trying to be elected.

"All of this money was contributed by me," he adds.

Other Indiana candidates swear that they spent the following amounts:

Cyrus Cline, democrat, Twelfth district, $1,104.

John B. Peterson, democrat, Tenth district, $578.20.

Martin A. Morrison, democrat, Ninth district, $397.25.

John Napir Dyer, progressive, Second district, $583.50.

Humphrey C. Heidt, progressive, First district, $76.20.

Finley H. Gray, democrat, Sixth district, $220.35.

Felix Blankenbaker, republican, Fifth district, $360.

W. A. Cullop, democrat, Second district, $1,075.65.

Rollin Turner, republican, Fourth district, received $25; spent $5.50.

Joseph Amis, progressive, Fifht district, $58.01.

Mr. Peterson, of the Tenth district, testifies that he spent $75 for gasoline and the upkeep of his automobile.

In 1720 a Latin bible was valued at $150 ,and this was at a time when two arches of London bridge were built for less than that sum.

WOMAN'S FLAYED ARM IS BOUND TO A LIVING DOG!

Held Tightly Together in Plaster Cast Their Blood Intermingles as Pupie's Flesh Grows on the Human Patient—Remarkable Operation Performed to Save a Human Life.

FROM A PHOTOGRAPH TAKEN AT THE HOSPITAL IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE OPERATION, WHILE MRS. JOHNSON AND THE PUPPY WERE STILL UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THE ANAESTHETIC.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—There's a woman in a hospital here whose flayed arm is bound tightly to a living puppy—open flesh against open flesh!

Woman and puppy are literally growing together, the blood of each circulating through the veins of the other.

When the woman is given morphine, for instance, to quiet her pain, the puppy also feels its soothing influence.

All this comprises one of the most remarkable surgical efforts to have human life—not an ordinary skin-grafting case, but a startling new departure in the annals of wonderful modern surgery.

The other patient is Nellie, a pretty sky-terrier puppy.

Dr. Carl Anderson performed the operation at the Rhodes Avenue hospital.

Mrs. Johnson came to Chicago for treatment for a rodent ulcer, which covered a space of several inches square on her left elbow and upper arm. Rodent ulcer is a very ancient disease, said to have been one of those prevalent when Jesus healed the sick of Palestine. It usually attacks the arms or legs and while not as frequently fatal as cancer is not curable by medicine.

"What can you do for me?" asked Mrs. Johnson, when Dr. Anderson told her how serious was her malady.

"Nothing," he answered, "unless you will sumbit to having the skin of an animal grafted on your arm."

"Go ahead," she said.

Two healthy puppies were taken and kept on a diet until their condition was ideal. Then one of them, Nellie, the sky-terrier, was called upon to risk her life to save a human being. Nellie did not choose to be a heroine, but she played her part bravely.

Mrs. Johnson was placed upon an operating table and given an anaesthetic. When her wound had been prepared the dog also was put to sleep. Then its abdomen was shaved.

The surgeon cut away from the puppy's abdomen three sides of a piece six or eight inches square, turning back a flap of skin, with much more of the tissue than is usually taken for skin-grafting.

One side of this flap was left upon the dog's body and the other three were stitched to the woman's arm. Dog and woman were strapped together by bands of gauze, and then encased in a plaster cast, so it is impossible for them to move.

The operation took only a short while and Dr. Anderson says that unless there is infection the wound will heal rapidly and the dog can be cut away from the woman in a week, when the fourth side of the flap will be stitched to its place on the woman's arm.

"Will hair grow out on the skin that was grafted?"

Probably, for a while, the doctors say, but they hope in time it will take on the characteristic of the skin about it.

And what about Nellie?

Dr. Anderson says he will try to save her, too.

DOG WITH AN EEL CLEARS BARROOM

Men on Fixed Posts About the Mahogany Shout "Snakes"

AS THE PUP GOES BY

New York, Nov. 19.—Water ceased to flow in parts of the Waldorf-Astoria and plumbers decided that pipes leading through the baggage room were stopped up. Ezra C. Bingham, the chief engineer, turned off the water to that section of the hotel and ordered the plumbers to cut the pipes.

Bingham's constant companion in and out of the hotel is Nellie, an Irish terrier, which always is at his heels. Nellie watched the plumbers saw at the pipes, and suddenly, with a yelp and a growl, leaped forward and seized a large, wriggling eel in her teeth.

Before she could be headed Nellie made for the stairs with her prey. Bingham, the plumbers and the plumbers' helpers started for Nellie, but she galloped up the steps, dashed into the corridor and headed for Peacock alley.

The eel wriggled and squirmed, but Nellie had a good hold. The eel's tail encircled her neck and at times her body. Into the cafe leaped Nellie. The men with fixed posts about the bar took just one look at Nellie. Some man shrieked:

"Snakes!"

Every man in the cafe who was sufficiently agile to climb on the bar climbed there and squealed. Those who couldn't make the climb broke running records to some further point in the hotel or to the street

Nellie circled the bar, shaking the eel in her teeth, then ran up the corridor. Nellie loped into the office of Assistant Manager H. L. Stewart, leaped on a chair and stood up to show him her valuable catch. Mr. Stewart didn't want to see it at all. He left his office unceremoniously and forgot his hat.

Then came Bingham and the plumbers. They wrested the wriggling eel from Nellie's mouth, but they couldn't hold it after they got it until one of the plumbers took a piece of sand paper, folded the eel into it and squeezed the bundle into the pocket of his overalls.

The cashier in the cafe tried to tell the men who had climbed on the bar or had broken running records the true story, but there was none to listen to him. That eel episode cost the Waldorf-Astoria a lot of cash trade.

BREATHE BY WAY OF YOUR EARS

Doctor Says That is One Way to Double-Cross Germs.

JUST LIKE A FISH

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—In those prehistoric times "When you were a tadpole and I was a frog," we breathed through our gills, and if we still did tuberculosis and all kinds of germs would have a batting average of .000.

Such are the teachings of Dr. John G. Davis of the University of Virginia Medical department, delivered before a local body of medical students.

"By breathing through the ears," said the Old Dominion pedagogue, "tuberculosis and lung disease can be avoided. This will be a rather difficult matter at first, but after practice it will become easy. Man breathed through his ears before he learned to use his nose. In early days when man was a fish he had gills and inhaled and exhaled through them. Part of these old breathing organs still remain and if cultivated can be put to good use.

"You can exhale air through the ears now. Just take a good chest full of air, close the nostrils and try to exhale. The air will come out through the ears. Muscles of this old breathing organ have been out of practice for a few thousand years and it will require some practice to get them into order.

"I would advise mothers to train their children in this new but old mode of breathing. It will greatly help against many troubles, as there would be no chance of getting infectious matter into the lungs or throat. After a little practice a child will be able to close or shut his ears just as a fish works his gills.

"Originally the nose was used for smelling only. After a while man began taking long, generous smells, and later developed his smeller into a breather at the expense of his 'gills.' If my advice were followed man would have three breathing organs instead of two within two generations."

Ailments of Men Happily Overcome

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY.

Undoubtedly the following prescription will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

First get fifty cents' worth of compound fluid balmwort in a one-ounce package, and three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound; take home, mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Mix all in a six or eight-ounce bottle, shake well and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, followed by a drink of water.

By mixing it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspect it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, the above home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

INVENTED TO SETTLE A BET ON HOW A HORSE RUNS!

Here's the Studendous Romance of World's Greatest Amusement Told in Startling Facts and Figures.

By Gertrude M. Price,
The Daily Sentinel's Moving Picture Expert.

The moving picture is the latest and most wonderful chapter in the history of the drama.

Its amazing popularity rests on the fact that after all, and at heart, we are all children to whom the fascination of a picture never grows old.

The growth of the industry in the few short years it has been in existence, the stupendous financial investment and the millions of people who constitute its every day audience are almost beyond belief.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 theaters show the moving picture every day in the United States.

An average of various estimates indicates that we are spending $500,000 a day on moving picture shows.

HE MADE THE FIRST "MOVIES"—EADWEARD MUYBRIDGE.

The estimated investment in the moving picture industry (factories, exchanges and theaters) in the United States is roughly put at $150,000,000.

The moving picture is both an accident and a slow growth. It was "born," they tell us, away back in 1872 as the result of a wager between Leland Stanford, governor of California, and Eadweard Muybridge, an Englishman, as to whether a horse ever has four legs off the ground at the same time, while running.

To settle the wager a test was made at Stanford's Palo Alto ranch. Twenty-four cameras were placed side by side along the race course. Silk threads attached to each camera shutter were stretched across the road. As the horse raced by he broke the threads, opened the shutters and literally photographed himself 24 times. Hurdles were set at given distances for the horse to jump. The result was a series of pictures showing each movement of the horse. The test decided the question that no animal has all its feet off the ground at one time except when jumping. But it also suggested to Muybridge the possibility of showing pictures in motion. He put his 24 separate pictures into an old-fashioned "zoetrope:" a cylinder-shaped contrivance made of pasteboard with slits in the upper part, and revolved them rapidly. The experiment was crude, but it simulated motion and proved the feasibility of his idea and was probably the first moving picture. However, there are many other accounts of the origin of the "movie." The greatest step after the first crude idea came with the invention of photographic film, instead of glass plates, for without film modern "movies" would be impossible. George Eastman developed the film, to make amateur photography popular. Then Thomas A. Edison applied it to moving pictures. Eastman makes the film and Edison gets half a cent a foot royalty on all that's used—a neat half million dollars on the hundred million feet of film used every year.

Millions have been made in the business—and some of them lost in ruinous competition, before the "trusts" were founded. The moving picture industry now ranks with the great automobile business in magnitude of investment and output.

The production of a picture film today, with all its modern realism, costs all the way from $500 to $50,000.

The life of a picture is from four to six months. Its travel scope is often the entire length and breadth of the United States, and many foreign countries as well.

The daily moving picture audience is estimated to be 5,000,000, in audiences of 200 to 300.

There are between 40 and 50 producing companies, banded together under two alleged trusts.

Films are sold to film exchanges, which rent them out, suplying exhibitors from two to four films daily.

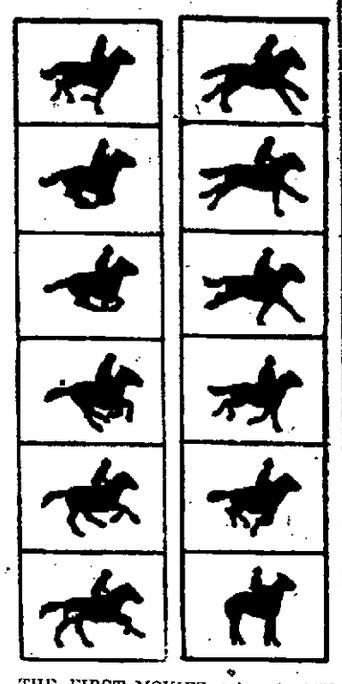
The price for the use of a film varies. A "first run," one that has never been shown before, is the most expensive. A "second run," costing less rental, is furnished for the second week, after being rented out to a "first run" show for one week. The "third run" may be anywhere from a week to a month old and costs less. Films older than 30 days are called "commercials."

Most theaters use a "first run," a "second run" and a "commercial" each day. A few of the largest theaters use "first runs" altogether. The equipment of a moving picture costs from $500 to $5,000 up. A projecting machine alone will cost from $200 for a second hand one to $1,000 for a new one.

Thousands of actors are regularly engaged in the moving picture business, and many thousands of "supes" work frequently in large scenes. An "extra" list of players known as "types" is kept by all the large producing companies.

During the last fiscal years 15,000 miles of motion films were exported from the United States and about 3,000 miles imported. A large part of the motion picture films used the world over are made here.

In measuring films 1,000 feet is the unit. Each picture on the film is one inch wide and 3-4 inch deep—16 pictures to the foot. The average film of 1,000 feet requires 18 or 20 minutes to see.



THE FIRST MOVIES, taken in 1872 (reproduced by courtesy of Scientific American.

BIG FACTS ABOUT MOVING PICTURES.

A picture costs all the way from a few hundred to $50,000 to produce.

The average picture is 600 to 1,000 feet long and takes 15 to 20 minutes to see.

Films are sold by the manufacturer to film exchanges and then leased by the exchanges to exhibitors.

There are about 20,000 moving picture theaters in the United States alone.

The salary of a moving picture actor ranges all the way from a few dollars a week for a "supe" to $10,000 a year for a star.

Joseph Jefferson was one of the first legitimate actors to pose for the "movies" Since then there have been Blanch Walsh, who did Tolstoy's "Resurrection," Nat C. Goodwin, who recently rehearsed "Shylock;" Bernhardt, Rejane, Jane Harding and many others.

IN WORLD SEARCH FINDS LOST HEIR

Young Englishman Sought for a Year Found in Bowery

BY OLDER BROTHER

New York, Nov. 19.—The story of a year's search for a missing brother, the quest leading from Nagasaki, Japan, to New York, and there finally successful, was told by William Blake, an Englishman, just before he left New York on board of the Marowijne, of the Royal Dutch West India Mail company, bound for British Guiana, with the brother, Charles Blake.

The Blakes are of a well to do family in Nottingham, England. Five years ago Charles Blake left home, seeking adventure. He shipped as a seaman, and until two years ago kept in occasional touch with his family, sending postal cards from various ports At that time John Blake, the father, died, and the family gradually lost sight of Charles.

More than a year ago Jamison Blake, an uncle, living in British Guiana, died, leaving his plantation, valued at $200,000, to his nephews, Charles and William. William Blake left his home to find the brother, who last had been heard from through a postal card from Nagasaki. The search took him from place to place. Finally the trail led to New York. For more than a month he searched the city. At last he turned to the Bowery, and there, two days ago, as he entered a lodging house, he came face to face with his brother, who was employed as a porter The man who had been missing so long said he had become stranded and that he was too proud to let his relatives know of his need.

Charles Blake had made friends along the Bowery, and he invited several to a farewell dinner.

New Economic Doctrine of Professor Arouses Anger

IN WOMAN AUDITOR

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov 19—"Spend all you have, then borrow more and spend that. It is foolish to scrimp and save. The girl who draws $8 a week and buys a $10 hat is more respected than the girl who buys one for 50 cents and is content to look dawdy while preparing for old age."

Prof. Simon N. Patton, instructor at the University of Pennsylvania, had just reached the middle of an address at the Spring Garden Unitarian church in which he advocated this new economic doctrine, and in getting to the middle of the address he got into the center of more pecks of trouble than a pessimist can think of. It was feminine trouble, too.

"What you say is absolutely untrue." Mrs. Alice Longaker had risen from her seat and all of the others in the audience turned at this number, not on the program.

"Do you mean that the girl in poor circumstances who makes $8 a week, and, ignoring the needs of the rest of the family, adorns herself with a ten dollar hat and other finery and does not help with the family expenses, is more moral than the girl who dresses plainly that she may help her struggling father?" she asked.

"That is just exactly what I mean," responded the professor.

"To call a poor girl immoral because she is generous to others is an insult," retorted Mrs. Longaker, and the audience applauded. This greatly surprised the lecturer.

"But," he argued, "I tell my students to spend all they have and borrow more and spend that. It is foolish for persons to scrimp and save. It is argued that they are endeavoring to put something aside for a rainy day—for old age.

"It is not the individual's place to do this, but the community's. A man who is out of work, ill or old has a right to demand that he be cared for by the community. Men and women should spend their earnings, for the more pleasure they have and the better they dress the higher the tone of the entire community.

"You must take chances. Spend your money, dress well and you will get ahead more rapidly than one who scrimps."

SUES FOR RECEIVER.

Attendant in Hospital Says Sisters of Mercy Are Insolvent.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 19.—Miss Edith Kenedy, an attendant at the Sisters of Mercy hospital here, has filed suit in the Clark circuit court asking the appointment of a receiver. She alleges the Sisters of Mercy, who are named as defendants, are insolvent or almost so, and that they owe her $2,500 salary. The indebtedness of the sisters, she avers, is nearly $28,000, and of this $23,000 is represented by notes, in part secured by mortgage on the hospital property. The filing of the suit is taken as the answer to the move of Mother Mary Regina Kerr to recover control of the hospital. She was removed last March and taken to Des Moines, Iowa. Her former assistant, Mother Mary Margaret, is now in charge.

FORECLOSURE AGAINST Y. M. C. A.

Suit Is Brought on $25,000 Mortgage at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 19.—Suit to foreclose a mortgage for $25,000 was brought today against the Y. M. C. A. of this city, which occupies a four-story building erected five years ago. The mortgage is held by the Lafayette Life Insurance company, given in 1907, and running for five years. The insurance company notified the association some time ago that it would not renew the loan. In addition to the principal there is an interest item of over $1,200, part of which is delinquent.

Mrs. Paul Wehling, 316 Smith St., Peoria, Ill., had kidney and bladder trouble, with terrible backache and pain across the hips. Just imagine her condition. She further says: I was also very nervous, had headaches and dizzy spells, and was fast getting worse when I took Foley Kidney Pills, and now all my troubles are cured. Foley Kidney Pills have done so much for me I shall always recommend them." Foley Kidney Pills are rich in curative qualities and contain no habit forming drugs. Try them. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Cables which proved disappointing to the bulls lowered the wheat market today. May started at 91½c to 91⅞c, a drop of ⅛c to ½c, and rallied to 92@92⅛c.

The close was weak, with May 1⅝@1⅞c net lower at 90⅛@90⅜c.

Advices that farmers were selling tended to ease corn until wheat began to recover. May opened at 47⅛c to 47⅜c but reacted to 47⅛c.

The close was nervous, with May at 47⅛@47⅜c, a net loss of a shade.

Good buying by shorts kept oats firm. May started at 32⅛c, rose and 32⅜c.

Provisions responded to steadiness in the hog market. First sales, with January, were $18.97½ for pork, $10.82½ to $10.85 for lard and $10.20 to $10.22½ for ribs.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 19.—Declines in active issues were general at the opening of today's stock market. Canadian Pacific yielded over a point with substantial fractional recessions in Bethlehem Steel, Smelting, the Coppers, Reading and St. Paul. Minor gains were limited to a few specialties and the less important railway shares.

Selling orders for fairly large amounts were executed in the important stocks in the early dealings, and the whole market sagged. Industrial issues gave way abruptly. American Brake showed preferred falling eight points, and various other specialties from one to four points. With the receipt of news from abroad that prospects for the ending of the Balkan war were brighter, the market turned, and by noon the favorite stocks had risen to a level with yesterday's close or above. Bonds were steady.

The market closed easy. Persistent selling gave the impression that liquidation was being forced in some quarters.

FIRE WRECKS A BIG CAR PLANT

American Concern at Terre Haute Suffers Loss of $100,000.

CLOSE CALL FOR MEN

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 19.—The erecting plant of the American Car & Foundry company was burned yesterday afternoon, causing a loss estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. According to employes of the factory, the fire was caused by the bursting of an oil pipe leading to the furnace in the erecting house. The oil ignited from the blaze in the rivet furnace a short distance away and within ten minutes the large erecting room was a seething mass of flames.

Two members of the fire department were seriously injured and several employes of the company sustained minor cuts and bruises. A score of men barely escaped death when the wall of the building collapsed. Fireman George Brandenburg was injured in this fall. He was hurled forward and sustained a severe cut in the leg and body bruises. Captain John Bayless, of the fire department, was caught by the debris and painfully bruised. His escape was miraculous.

The first alarm was turned in about 3:45 o'clock and within less than five minutes a second alarm called out practically every fire engine company in the city. Lack of water pressure during the early stages of the fire is said to have caused the fire to get such a headway, but within a few minutes the fire pressure was turned on and every available apparatus in the city was playing streams of water on the plant from all sides.

The erecting plant of the American Car & Foundry company afforded labor to more than 700 men and at the time of the fire was operating full capacity, manufacturing from twelve to fifteen freight cars a day. At the time of the fire it is estimated that there were forty cars in the erecting house either completed, ready for delivery or in process of construction. Of this number but ten were saved from the fire and Supt. I. G. Reading, of the company, estimated the loss at $75,000 to $100,000, although the full extent of the damage cannot be determined for several days when an invoice of stock and salvage can be made.

The big frame building, which was one story high and about 100 feet wide by 250 feet long, is a total wreck.

seen the shooting at the hands of the defendants?" "These are circumstances for you to consider" cautioned the court.

As in the charge to the Becker jury, Justice Goff ruled that Rose, Vallon and Webber were accomplices. Schepp's status he left for the jurors to decide. "There is nothing in the law," he added, "to prevent your giving full credence to the testimony of Rose."

"What I shall say applies to all the defendants, and only in one case shall I separate one from the others," said Justice Goff in opening his address. "Herman Rosenthal was shot to death under circumstances of exceptional recklessness, Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps say to these four defendants 'you did the murder.' These four defendants say 'we admit the murder, but you committed it.' It is a remarkable situation, these two groups of men each accusing the other.

"Rose has taken the witness stand and acknowledged participation in the crime. It was a remarkable narrative that he told. Can you say that that man executed and conceived this plot without their being foundation of truth in it? From the defendants' mouths themselves we learn that Rose feared them. The defense accuses Rose of constructing the story to save his own life.

"It is for you to say in hearing Rose incriminate himself in telling this narrative, whether there was no truth to support his story; whether it was pure imagination. Bear in mind that Rose did not testify that he saw the defendants shoot Rosenthal. Would he have stopped short just before the culmination of the plot and fail to say that he saw them commit the murder if he was not telling the truth?"

TWO HELD ON A FORGERY CHARGE

Harry Schnieder and Ralph Dunlap Under Bond of $1,000.

CITY COURT CASES

Harry C. Schnieder and Ralph Dunlap, charged in the city court today with forgery, had their cases continued until tomorrow under a bond of $1,000. It is alleged that the two men have forged the name of Zack Snook to checks and obtained $26.60 on them at the Citizens' Trust company. Evidence submitted indicates that Dunlap has been working with Schnieder, obtaining the blank checks at the bank, and that Schnieder was the man who did the penmanship.

Given Jail Sentence.

Wilbur Van Dine was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail this morning in Judge Mungovan's court for petit larceny. Van Dine stoutly maintained that he was innocent of the charge against him, but the evidence substantiated the charge. He was charged with stealing an overcoat from the rooms of Don Vendrick at 201 West Berry street, and the police officers claim that Van Dine has been guilty of stealing several other coats that have been reported missing. The Vendrick coat was stolen about Nov. 1.

Grace Meyers, Irene Miller, Mat Winslow and John Little, charged with fornication, were each assessed $5 and costs. The four were arrested early this morning in the Stentz rooming house, 103 Brackenridge street, where registered as husbands and wives.

Dick Shreck was in again this morning charged, as usual, with drunkenness. Two previous convictions were placed against him with the result that he was fined $25 and costs. August Jordan, another old offender, had a previous conviction put against him and he was sent to jail for twenty-five days.

Julius W. Fabian, charged with assault and battery on his wife, drew a continuance until Nov. 26 and is held under $500 bond. The affidavit was filed by his wife, who charges that he treats her cruelly. Fabian is a saloonkeeper.

Willie Walker, a vag, got $5 and costs, and Ernest Ceasar, a drunk, was assessed a similar fine, while William Buffington, a less offensive drunk, got $1 and costs.

WOMEN OF TURKEY STILL BOUGHT AND SOLD FOR THE HAREM.

A WOMAN OF CONSTANTINOPLE.

While the Turkish soldiers are being beaten by the Balkan allies and the inhabitants of Constantinople are fleeing across the Bosphorus, what about the Turkish women, who have been ignored in the news dispatches?

They are still creatures of mystery. Here, however, are some plain facts about them:

The phrase "veiled Turkish beauty" is rather misleading. Turkish women have been considered beautiful chiefly because few outsiders have ever had a look at them. Most of them are short and fat, and the mystifying veil and the "tchartchaff," or long cloak, only too often cover an ungainly form and haggish face.

The young girl is often pretty, but lack of mental activity and lack of physical exercise soon do their deadly work.

The sultan's harem, of course, holds many beautiful women; but most of them are Circassians or Georgians.

The infusion of modern ideas into the Turkish harem has made little change in the character and life of the women. Nearly all of them after reaching the age of 13, still wear in public the veil over the face and the black cloak reaching to the feet.

There are innumerable restrictions. For a woman to be seen on the street in the company of a man, even her own husband or father, would be a terrible breach of etiquette. A lady must be escorted by a eunuch, a household slave not rated as a man.

A woman never appears in a restaurant or theater and seldom in a place of religious worship. There are no ballrooms. Her life is confined to the woman's quarters, or "haremlik," and there, even among the society folk of Constantinople, life is unspeakably dull. For there is no social intercourse at all between the sexes; a lady can only entertain other ladies in stiff, ceremonial fashion, and the talk at such "pink teas" is seldom anything but petty gossip.

Most Turks have only one wife. When they have more, they are supposed to maintain each one separately—and that is expensive. He may have women slaves, however. Four is the limit.

The sultan hasn't any wives at all. It is bad form for a sultan to marry. He merely has a harem filled with slaves, sold or given to him.

The slave trade still exists, in spite of assertions to the contrary. And it is a blot on Turkish life in comparison with which the worst of the "white slave traffic" in American cities seems trivial. Women are bought in secret markets at prices proportionate to their beauty.

Most Turkish women smoke, but not in the presence of elders or superiors. Being Mohammedans, of course they do not drink.

Much deference is paid to age. A girl every evening kisses her father's hand for "good night."

At 15 or 16 a girl becomes engaged. Her mother usually makes the match, and she marries him without either ever having seen the other. For a while, she continues to live in her father's house. Before marriage her fiance sends her presents. Afterward her father gives the bridegroom a trousseau.

There is no real privacy for a woman, in spite of her rigid seclusion. She may not lock the door of her room, and is never safe from the prying eyes of the male slaves. All her letters are handed first to her lord and master, to read if he chooses.

There is no relief from domestic monotony, even in the visit of the grocer, butcher or iceman. The lady of the house deals with her tradesmen through a revolving cupboard in the kitchen door.

DENTIST

First-Class Dental Work at a Reasonable Price.

When teeth are so far decayed that they cannot be filled they can be restored to usefulness, beauty and durability by the porcelain crown system. Porecian work is one of the most beautiful operations in dentistry. It is a process of crowning teeth and matching the natural teeth so closely in shape and color that the work is imperceptible. Crowns of porcelain are so useful and comfortable to the wearer that it is soon forgotten that they are different from one's own teeth. It is astonishing to see how many roots and teeth that are considered worthless can be thus made good, comfortable teeth. Porcelain work and its several improvements when rightly performed, scientific, artistic and practical—it is the true dental fine art—and covers a large number of cases.

Call or phone 2035 for appointment and have an examination made of your teeth. Find what is required to put them in first-class condition. No charge for this. My office is located at 916 Calhoun street, over App's shoe store. Sign reads: J. C. Lehman, Dentist.
